If you are also one of these people, I can tell you are one (or all) of the following:

<12

Uneducated

Are a victim of social media brainwashing

Stupid

Cancer

People who claim they will move to another country if a specific candidate wins is clearly too stupid to understand what politics is, and how to not be brainwashed. If a candidate is that bad and they do become president, and that candidate fucks up, Congress will step in and call for an impeachment.

It just really nags me, you know? Everyone knows you aren't going to move to Canada or Mexico, and everyone knows that Trump isn't Hitler, and everyone knows that North Korea taking over is not better than_ winning. These people make me lose brain cells each day, especially when they say things that their parents told them or what the brainwashing media told them over platforms such as Twitter or Instagram. I've even seen some people vote for whomever a fucking celebrity would vote for. It disgusts me.

Not to mention, people said that about Obama. Did anybody move? NO.

Did Obama fuck up big time? Well.. not big time, but he hasn't made the wisest of decisions, such as intervening with those religious groups in Iraq or whatever country it is out there in the Middle-East. Our intervention is probably the reason why ISIS was formed.

Please, for the sake of my humanity

Tell these shitheads to stop talking about politics like they know what's going on.

Since we are ranting can I just say that I hate playing with incompetents on my team in Counter-Strike? All I ask is that if you have a full set of utility that you use it.

On that topic:

- Don't bait your teammate in a 1v2 on pistol round when we have a kit.
- Don't spray a five-seven across the fucking map at someone with 3hp or else you'll die.
- If I say follow me and if they come out a ramp I'm going to pop flash that doesn't mean sit CT.

Tell these shitheads to stop talking about politics like they know what's going on.that's not even the point if we both have the same thread in mind, i apologize if not. we have candidates that will only make things progressively worse, such as trump or shillary, and then we have bernie who is willing to undo as much bullshit thats been established already as possible. we need people to realize that things can be fixed for the best when we have bernie as the POTUS

imo all of the candidates this year are kinda shit

bernie; socialist and promises free shit to college students for votes

clinton; criminal

cruz; born in canada, i dont think he can run

trump; talks smack alot

...so just political propaganda that is advertised every single election? It's supposed to be manipulative, and only a select few are supposed to be able to see through it.

I don't know if people realize this but there is some Canadian's who support Trump over (blank) candidate. The only people who don't like Trump is a lot of the teenagers here, but when it comes to talking to someone who is over the age of 20-30 for example, they don't mind him and some prefer him more than the other candidates. I personally would be upset if I meet someone in the future (if Trump Wins) that moved from the U.S. to Canada. If you can be triggered by something that small, then I don't know how you can survive outside of your little SJW bubble.
