Thread: 1K from Teespring

Romario - April 24, 2016, 6:33 am

I have found Teespring 1 year ago and when I joined there I have tried many ways to have any successful campaign but I have failed in all of them.
But now I understood how to work with TS and I suggest you to join to Teespring here.

Tee spring is really tough.

Acteda - April 24, 2016, 8:00 am

Good luck on your road to 500$ per month.

BooGod - April 24, 2016, 8:02 am

Congratulations, I am doing tries in teespring aswell

I'm pretty sure that you will fail in some campaigns, but then you will earn the success.
If you want to learn more about Teespring Strategies, join on some groups of Facebook for Teespring they will help you with some advices.

I already made three failures with campaigns... But have been watching alot of videos and also did what you said, joining teespring groups...

I already have been doing some home work anddoing preparations for the next campaign....
Already wasted $120+ in advertising...I already choosed my next three niches

?Contact me if you need any help.

I have advertised $50 and have failed, but the problem it was that I didn't choose the right audience, I choosed the age from 13 to 65, so that was a big mistake.

I suggest you to choose the age from 20 to 25.

The age was one of my mistakes too. Maybe I need advice...when setting up the ad on fb, it asks to create a page. Is it really necessary? It reaches a bigger and faster audience.. but it is much less efficient than just ads. I mean, for direct purchase/buy now link page

Teespring is tough as hell. I've been there for 4 months, wasted $1k in advertising, got back maybe $800, gave up.

So $310 is pretty fucking awesome considering how difficult it is to make anything with TS

You could have been in profit .

I've always wanted to try TS but have heard too many fail stories

Because my net gain in 4 months was -200$?

Not worth it to be honest, I perservered as much as I could but after one point you just say fuck it, I'm gonna try another strategy.

But to be honest for Teespring, even if it sounds strange, you need to be a people person, you need to have the so called "emotional intelligence". Once you hit an audience with the right message, you are in the gold. That's all it is about.

Almost all of my money came from 2 shirts, one for nurses, and another for animal right protesters. And both of their designs sucked, it was just a text with an image from freepik.com, but the message was relevant, and people kept buying. And if you browse around TS communities, that's what all the gurus say. It's about right audience & message.

The only thing that is tough is the limitation you put in your brain. You can achieve ANYTHING in life if you believe in it and put the work.

Best of luck with TeeSpring OP. I failed also with TeeSpring but I will not give up.

Romario - April 25, 2016, 10:21 am

I will post here again after some months, but I will not post any fail story, but will show my sales with Teespring and will teach you too.

DuguWudi - April 25, 2016, 1:08 pm

One question, why everyone said doing teespring must invest money first into advertising/etc before you can earn money??

Is there anyone earning money from teespring without investing money into advertising/etc here?

Good luck mate, but just fyi there are thousands of easier ways to make money: CPA, dropshipping, affiliate marketing, to name a few.

300 buck not 30k, if 30k OP will be pretty going into teespring fulltime by now.

Romario - May 31, 2017, 2:04 pm

My last payout was made some 6 days ago.

I suggest you to join to Teespring here
