Thread: Have email, can I get password without resetting?

Sprayz - April 25, 2016, 3:12 pm

I have access to the main email to the skype account I want to get into but i do not want to reset the password, I want to be able to log in from phone/computer and monitor conversation on the skype account.

Is there anyway I can somehow get the accounts password - without resetting it?

and help/suggestions greatly appreciated! Thanks.

No, it isn't possible.

The password is stored encrypted within a database, and they can't send you the password in plaintext.

You'll have to reset the password.

If you can keylog the victim then you could get the password that way.
