Thread: Clickable awards

Dredd - April 28, 2016, 2:23 am

Not sure if this has already been mentioned if so I'll remove this thread but for awards with urls given as the reason there should be an easier way to go to the thread listed in the reason.

Example of this <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5251670&pid=50730556#pid50730556>
Odus has two sticky man awards but there is no easy way of visiting the threads I usually inspect element and copy the url, yes I know you could go to his awards page but I thought it would be a cool idea if it was simply a link.

Even if it's only the sticky man award as not many other awards have solely urls as their reason.

Thanks,

I don't think it's necessary all honest, I mean you can just hover over a members award and it gives you a description... as far as I'm aware it's not so hard to search through someone's topics & you'll find out there I guess.

OP, maybe this could work out for you.

Not sure tho, could be outdated since it was created in 2012.

Of course it's not a necessity HF ain't gonna die without it, and you say to just search through someones topics to find it for someone like you who has 11 posts yea that would be a piece of piss, for others who have 30k plus I would much rather just to click the icon than sift through 30 thousands posts.

It's not something I'm desperate for just thought it could be something Omni reviews and maybe implements it's literally as simple as adding an extra attribute to the element onClick="window.location='the thread url here';"

Unless Omniscient manually hyperlinked the awards to link to the threads that they point to, this would take some effort. The award descriptions only contain a link though, so maybe, just that the work isn't worth the reward. The userscript above just gets the award type and links to that award's page.

The Sticky man awards only have thread urls in the reason so there would be no need to manually go through and hyperlink each award. In MyBB forums which I presume is what HF runs you can just change the templates of how things work and all you'd have to do is set either a href or an onClick function on the award with the url as the reason.

Trust me for the sticky man awards it would take like 2 seconds but as you said other awards aren't always linked to urls so it would be pointless and time consuming for Omni to do them. ?

He wouldn't, the award table is built automatically. Would just check the awid then either attach an onclick or anchor tags. But yeah, it's not a super common award so kind of unnecessary. Oh and that script you linked is doing it all manually. See here:

<http://userscripts-mirror.org/scripts/review/128238>

OP code is below if you wanna put it into a userscript (thanks for using me as an example btw ?)

```
Code var stickyMen = document.getElementsByTagName('img');
```

for (var i = 0; i < stickyMen.length - 1; i++) if (stickyMen[i].getAttribute('alt') == 'Sticky Man') stickyMen[i].setAttribute('onclick', 'window.location="' + stickyMen[i].getAttribute('title') + "';");
```

I've just created this for OP. I would like to see this suggestion implemented although I doubt it will happen before HF upgrades to MyBB 1.8.

[\[Userscript\] The Brotherhood // Clickable Sticky Man](#) - Hash G.

That's great. Thanks for making it! I'll try it out when I'm not on mobile.

I too would like to see this suggestion implemented.

It'd be nice to be able to click or even highlight to copy/past urls that are in award descriptions. Not only the sticky man award but YouTube, IG etc.
