i need help recovering an old email of mine. it says the hint email is a....d@hotmail.com and i have no idea what that could be. I've even answered the security question which is my fathers middle name correctly but its still not working. i need to acess this email so i can acess an old facebook of mine, but i dont remember the password to that either. Ive tried to contact facebook for months but it says they dont have enough info to prove its me. I dont know much about hacking since im female and not that big of a nerd but if anyone has any clue on what should i do it would be appreciated
