Quote:"Schwarzesmarken," the German word for "Black Marks." Set in the 1980s in an alternate timeline version of East Germany, Schwarzesmarken follows the East German Army's 666th TSF Squadron, also known as the "Black Marks." This special unit specializes in unconventional tactics using advanced technology. Their enemy? Beings of extraterrestrial origin, or the BETA, a fearsome and sometimes unpredictable enemy that seem dead set on destroying the human forces and taking the planet Earth for themselves and ripping it clean of its natural resources. Because the BETA come in all shapes and sizes, carrying any number of advanced alien technologies, the Black Marks must use the latest and most deadly weapons humanity can devise to drive them back.

Irisdina Bernhard is the commanding officer of the Black Marks. As a war hero, she has earned the respect of her country. However, her cold exterior and personality make her extremely hard to work under, especially for one of the most talented members of the squadron, Theodor Eberbach. Only time will tell if the many battles fought together will bring peace to the earth, and between the many combating personalities in the 666th TSF Squadron.

You fucking faggotis, why didn't you create a thread for this masterpiece? If there's one Anime from Winter 2016 that deserves it, it's Schwarzesmarken. You are all to go watch it right now, otherwise I won't answer of my actions.

Honestly, I want more Anime around Germany. I personally believe it's an amazing country and I would love to visit it one day.

@Japanese: idgaf bruh. I'm watching Anime once they're done airing because I'm bad at handling the suspense of having to wait each week to watch one episode.

Fullmetal, <https://kissanime.to/Anime/Fullmetal-Alchemist-The-Conqueror-of-Shamballa> really liked FM however the movies let it down for me kinda like long OVAs, was set in Germany and was kinda cool.

Targaryen - May 3, 2016, 10:07 am

Personally I found this pretty bad. Characters were annoying most of the time and cgi was TERRIBLE.

Baelish - May 3, 2016, 10:08 am

Watched one episode, seemed autistic as hell, sorry not sorry, don't watch

Hellsing Ultimate has Nazis, that Nazi General is probably one of my favorite characters. Plus that anime is a beautiful masterpiece from amazing characters to storyline, its utter perfection you have to watch it if you haven't already
