Thread: Highest point in your life / Lowest point in your life

Nadisty - May 5, 2016, 2:21 am

So the mindfuck of today is. Whats your highest/lowest point in your lives?

YayHar - May 5, 2016, 2:23 am

Highest Point: secret babe ;3

Lowest Point: Grandpa died, my high school dropped me, got fired all in the same day.

Febreze - May 5, 2016, 2:23 am

That's a good ass question. I'm reserving this post for tomorrow or a later day when I come back to answer. Too sleepy rn.

Good idea for a thread OP.

I'm finding it hard to pinpoint a moment or highest lowers moment, so I'll just be more general.

Lowest point: The 3 time's I've been closest to suicide.

Highest point: Graduating high-school last year.

Nadisty - May 6, 2016, 11:18 am

Some pretty good highs and lows. Keep em coming people!

Coco_Cubana - May 6, 2016, 1:18 pm

Lowest point was checking into rehab I knew i had to get clean and sober or else I wasn't going to end up anywhere good (was addicted to Heroin)

Highest point ~ When I got hired for the job that i really wanted, it took me 3 interviews and some people that i know who work for the company to get me on (and previous education for the trade)

Treaty - May 6, 2016, 1:22 pm

Lowest Point : Probably seeing my mom sick

Highest Point : Graduating High School

Louis C.K. - May 6, 2016, 1:22 pm

Highest point was when I overdose on cocaine while having a threesome

Lowest point was when I got robbed by black people

Nadisty - May 7, 2016, 11:55 pm

Not even sure if that's a troll

Heart - May 8, 2016, 12:06 am highest point - a girl speaking to me

lowest point - waking up every morning despite how often i crave death

thats fuckin beautiful

Ahri????? - May 8, 2016, 12:39 am

Lowest point high school graduation

Highest point Air Force BMT graduation

gore - May 8, 2016, 12:40 am

Highest: my kid's birth, as cheesy as that is.

Lowest: late-2012/early-2013 and a bit in late 2014 where I was just depressed and contemplated suicide constantly. Surprised I'm still here with the thoughts I had back then tbh.

But I'm still here, and my entire life is now 8 months old and just amazes me everyday. Can't believe I ever didn't want to be here when I see him.

Desolate Night - May 8, 2016, 12:56 am

Highest point: Smoked a lot of weed.

Lowest point: Fell from my balcony afterwards.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) Joking.

Highest would be when I earned 500$ online.

Lowest would be when I broke my phone's screen carrying a fridge upstairs.

Sashimi - May 8, 2016, 1:01 am

Highest: Hearing my turntable, living with my ex.

Lowest: Father passing away, slave shit.

u wot m8 - May 8, 2016, 1:12 am

Highest point: not too sure, probably when all my friends started driving, so it was fast cars, drugs and selling stolen watches for a friend. Sounds like a low point but that's just what makes me happy

Lowest point: drugs again, but was addicted to mkat, parents found all my stuff (I was like 14-15 so I got a bollocking from them) I was self harming and had no real friends

Nadisty - May 8, 2016, 3:38 am

Interesting to find out a little bit about yourselves. Keep the submissions coming!

Highest point: Recently accepted to a 10 month exchange to Japan (leaving in August), started a business and it's going extremely well, nowadays gradually learning about myself more and more, feeling happier and more content doing what I love.

Lowest point: This one requires some backstory. I was 14 years old, 3rd time smoking weed, wasn't really feeling it on the night, it was cold and we were in a shit environment, felt nervous beforehand. I started smoking, and eventually my heartrate started to escalate. I was with friends, and I told them I was really anxious but we were all high as fuck. They seemed super calm but we all were smoking the same stuff. We went back to my hours, ran upstairs to my room pretending not to be high. It wasn't getting better, my legs felt weak, I thought I was dying, heart was racing, so I went downstairs and told my parents I was having a serious panic attack and they took me to the ER and my friends stayed home. In the hospital I admitted to my mum that I smoked, she didn't care, but was concerned for my own good. She told the staff, they admitted me overnight. Nurse staff gave me a high dosage of benzos which didn't even knock me out and my heart rate was at 140 BPM for 10 hours straight from around 10pm to 8am. The sheer amount of adrenaline pumped through me exhausted me for 2 weeks straight and I developed severe hypochondria and anxiety from the aftermath. Got a cold? Thought I had cancer. Felt a lump? Cancer. I thought I was dying at every second of the day and it got to the point where I seriously just wanted to die and my family weren't very supportive. It eventually got better as I'm now 3 years down the track and to cure the anxiety I focused on what made me happy and stopped feeding it (by Googling symptoms, etc). I now understand that worrying about that shit is just gonna ruin your life which you only got one shot at, but the whole experience developed me a lot personally. A lot of you probably think weed can't do that shit to you but it happened to me, and obviously the root cause was the panic attack which escalated. Not saying weed is bad, but not for everyone.

Everyone has their highs and lows, do the best with what you got guys, life is too short to worry about shit and dwell. Move the fuck on and achieve what you want to.

To the guy above me,

I had a friend at college who's friend tried weed and got mentally fucked and ended up in hospital, something with his brain.

Sounds like you smoked spice bro, like black mamba or something, but you said you were all smoking the same stuff so that's weird man, I'd be scared as fuck.

Funny story about black mamba/legal high actually, one of my friends smoked it once and passed out in this chair, we couldn't wake him up but he was breathing fine so we just left it.

But after a few mins passed my friend was trying to wake him up and held his nose shut so he couldn't breathe, and ofcourse the natural reaction is to open your mouth right? Nah, he was that fucked he didn't, he stayed asleep and was basically drowning, so we were watching one of our friends suffocate the guy who was passed out, it was weird as fuck but he stopped before anything bad could happen.

Weird thing is we just watched him pretty much suffocate him to death, nobody even tried to stop him, guess it was just shock.

But yeah a lot of people say smoking weed doesn't harm you, but like the guy above me said, it can.

Holy fuck, that is scary. I agree with you that a lot of people are adamant on the idea that weed is fine and everyone can smoke it, etc, however everyone's body is different and as a result things like what you mention and what happened to me can and will happen. To be honest I have no fucking idea what it was, I was told it was indica and as I said my friends were chill so I honestly never really figured out what happened.

Haydin - May 8, 2016, 6:14 am highest point gotta be when i had a squad battle 50 in h3. lowest gotta be right now.

I'm back.

Highest point in my life was probably when my mom got married. I care about my mom a lot, so when she's happy I ultimately feel happy. It's probably because I'm her. And the place she got married was dope as fuck. Or when I hit 10th prestige on COD4. (only took 16 days game time lmao)

Lowest point in my life might be soon.

Torture GoD - May 11, 2016, 6:35 pm

Lowest point in my life has not happened yet I guess

insurance - May 11, 2016, 6:37 pm

Highest point: Making all A's on my report card / made $500 USD in 1 minute.

Lowest point: Sent dick pics to this girl, Girls mom showed my mom my dick
