Left a few constructive comments on your site, but it's looking great. I like that type of theme, relaxed and milky.

Not really much to say about it, but look like the other roulette themes.

Honestly, it feels a bit out-dated. The glossy and blatant gradients make it feel very 2009.

Those four buttons either side of the copyright just stand out like a VERY sore thumb, either have all the buttons follow that style or none of them at all, or at least make the Facebook and Steam buttons smaller.

Just my opinion on it :) Good luck in the future.

This better be a draft, because the colors are overwhelming. I would rather see you stick with the purple/black/white scheme in the green and red boxes. The chat text box looks a little bit too small. Those are a couple things I quickly noticed, there may be a few more things to point out though.
