"Starting with this update to Skype and moving forward, your IP address will be kept hidden from Skype users, This measure will help prevent individuals from obtaining a Skype ID and resolving to an IP address."

This was like January 25th, cheers.

Skype patched the resolvers can't do it anymore.

Skype resolvers where patched in one of the recent skype updates as mentioned as one of the users above.

If you want to find this person's IP, your best bet would be to use a skype deob or use wireshark while in a call with them.

Otherwise I recommend that you search their username through a skype ip database.

You can search a Skype IP database here:

If you cant find the ip you should # him to get their ip

Thats old school stuff but still in use.

I used to use google link shrinker to trick them into make them think it was a google link and not the # one.

Hope it helps.

#= blaze ip logger

You can no longer resolve IP addresses through Skype.

Crynx - May 8, 2016, 2:14 pm

May he is stupid enough to open every link you send to him. Just google for grabify its an really easy service.

Use wireshark then. It is simple.

billou84 - May 9, 2016, 3:28 am

it s working good luck

DarkN3ss61 - May 9, 2016, 4:13 am

Just use Grabify IP Logger, its the best one out there
