Thread: Client Sending Me Personal Information

The Mack - May 8, 2016, 8:10 pm

A client who wants to fly me out on an airplane ticket, I was trying to accept money from him via Circle Pay but has a $300 a week limit. He now wants to give me his credit card information and I have no idea what to do, if someone could send me some advice it'd be greatly appreciated.

He can't pay you with paypal?

The Mack - May 8, 2016, 8:16 pm

I can't use Paypal, although I am open to other Bitcoin payment processors similar to Circle Pay.

I am an eWhore and he thinks hes paying my Whore for a Plane Ticket. Only thing is the ticket is 700 while the Weekly limit for Circle is $300

Just walk him through how to buy bitcoins and to send them to your wallet. Or maybe you could try use Payoneer

You should walk him through on how to buy bitcoins its not that hard.

DON'T ACCEPT HIM CC INFO

He could possibly do a bank transfer through some merchant. When is he wanting to book the flight? And doesn't circle lift limits more based on identity verification?
