

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: GMail account creation without a phone number?

MrMagikarp - May 10, 2016, 10:20 am

I've been trying to create a new gmail account and every single time it asks me for a phone number even when I put in all the info possible. Is there anyway to bypass this because I don't want to have my phone number attached to the google account.

thx ?

Excaahhh - May 10, 2016, 10:21 am

Pay for a Phone Verification service on here.

Sir Hunningham - May 10, 2016, 10:24 am

Um it's weird because about a week ago i've created a g-mail account without any phone asking. And it was on the bluestack interface directly so maybe that'll help

Frukt - May 10, 2016, 10:26 am

If you put a backup mail when you create it I did not ask me, I tried without backup mail and it made me verify with phone.

Use a 10minutemail and you should be good!

Wyatt Garcia - May 10, 2016, 10:26 am

(May 10, 2016 10:20 AM)MrMagikarp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've been trying to create a new gmail account and every single time it asks me for a phone number even when I put in all the info possible. Is there anyway to bypass this because I don't want to have my phone number attached to the google account.

thx ?Well did you write the captcha or did you just skip it?
Also clear your cookies maybe and use different IP.

Almost never I dont need to add phone number when creating new gmail myself.

MrMagikarp - May 10, 2016, 10:27 am

(May 10, 2016 10:26 AM)Aecy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well did you write the captcha or did you just skip it?
Also clear your cookies maybe and use different IP.

Almost never I dont need to add phone number when creating new gmail myself.
I use a vpn

__Joel - May 10, 2016, 10:30 am

It's annoying as fuck, huh? It's the same issue with yahoo as well...

FiftyTwo - May 10, 2016, 10:30 am

I can let you verify it with a UK phone number that I own for some BTC.
PM me if you're interested.

MrMagikarp - May 10, 2016, 10:42 am

(May 10, 2016 10:30 AM)52?? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I can let you verify it with a UK phone number that I own for some BTC.

PM me if you're interested.

Is it a phone number from a phone? I used burnable phone numbers and it denies it.

Ganja - May 10, 2016, 11:02 am

I just use yandex instead, fast registration and no phone required.

axjohn - May 10, 2016, 11:03 am

Putting a backup email should do it :)

Yin Yang - May 10, 2016, 11:04 am

They use it just incase to notify if you forgot your password.

FiftyTwo - May 10, 2016, 11:57 am

(May 10, 2016 10:42 AM)MrMagikarp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is it a phone number from a phone? I used burnable phone numbers and it denies it.

PM me.

Snapbytes - May 10, 2016, 11:59 am

Depends on which country you are. In some countries, it doesnt asks for verification.

Riyu - May 10, 2016, 12:02 pm

(May 10, 2016 10:27 AM)MrMagikarp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I use a vpn

That is why. I usually just change my IP and clear my cache and I don't need to add anything.

MrMagikarp - May 10, 2016, 12:03 pm

(May 10, 2016 11:59 AM)Demigod™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Depends on which country you are. In some countries, it doesnt asks for verification.Do you know which countries don't ask for phone verification?

Rulerzz - May 10, 2016, 12:05 pm

If you create a gmail through an android mobile phone I guess it doesn't ask for an mobile number.

BobDylan - December 1, 2019, 2:21 pm

sorry for digging up this, but i'm facing the same problem, and couldn't find a proper way to bypass it, any other leads?

Unexplained - December 1, 2019, 4:02 pm

(May 10, 2016 10:20 AM)MrMagikarp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've been trying to create a new gmail account and every single time it asks me for a phone number even when I put in all the info possible. Is there anyway to bypass this because I don't want to have my phone number attached to the google account.

thx ?

You'll have to use a phone number.

hayesh - December 1, 2019, 5:24 pm

(May 10, 2016 10:20 AM)MrMagikarp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've been trying to create a new gmail account and every single time it asks me for a phone number even when I put in all the info possible. Is there anyway to bypass this because I don't want to have my phone number attached to the google account.

thx ?

You cant create too many gmail accounts too quickly,then they ll ask you for a number.

Ravioli - December 1, 2019, 5:28 pm

It works for me if I delete cookies and switch IP

wiz - December 1, 2019, 8:03 pm

You can purchase a phone verification here

Zero - December 2, 2019, 4:10 am

(May 10, 2016 10:24 AM)Sir Hunningham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Um it's weird because about a week ago i've created a g-mail account without any phone asking.

And it was on the bluestack interface directly so maybe that'll help

They don't always ask for that.

They might ask when you login to that account again or from different device so keep that in mind.

cryp - December 2, 2019, 3:24 pm

Pretty sure some free text services like textnow work for google verification, if not there's some cheap services.