Thread: Scammed \$187.5 by KingUnbound // UID=2732677

Trapology - May 10, 2016, 6:04 pm

I was selling my $375 GiftRocket GiftCard to him and he didn't pay me.

User : <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2732677>

PM1 \(Click to View\)

PM2 \(Click to View\)

PM3 \(Click to View\)

PM4 \(Click to View\)

PM5 \(Click to View\)

He said 'I want him to send first' but he didn't.

He said this user wanted to buy : <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=3113709>

He also said he would pay the full amount by midday if the user didn't pay me and he didn't do that either.

Tried to let him off with $80 less then its supposed to be and he didn't take that offer either.

He also lied about having no funds and his excuse was that the funds were for AGC.

Do not deal with this user.

Im feeling like that skrakeon is him and he is just blaming it on him so he doesn't get blamed.

Hoping to get this resolved.

Show the pic of the transaction?

You said it would be fine if I left the link and I did.

You said you wouldn't go first to him but because you got tired you sent him it first and thats why its your fault I lost the giftcard.

KingUnbound is definitely liable for this. Who the fuck gives a giftcard of this amount to some random with 0 posts?

Clearly his friend or someone he knows, or he's braindead.

Well actually in this case you most def were the one at fault.

Not that it matters, seems these giftcards were carded regardless.

You dodged a bullet :^)

You're at fault technically, you owe him money, but I mean like, seems like OP was a slimey person.

For future reference, be careful when making deals, regardless of the situation if you take someone's money and they do not receive what was agreed upon, its your responsibility to refund the plaintiff, this is a general statement.
