Thread: Win 2.5\$ for giving me ideas to my application!

BassBoostOfficial - May 11, 2016, 12:15 pm

Heyo!

Giving you guys a small and interesting contest.

Basically whoever gives me the best idea to add to my new application to simulate gambling will get the prize. I will choose the winner based on the originality of the idea.

Here's the thread: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5266208>

You can download and try the application out, or simply give ideas out of the box. Whatever you prefer ?

Please post your suggestions and ideas here though, as the other thread is for development discussion only.

Thanks and good luck! ?

(This will end in a few weeks or if I find something really good!)

My suggestion would be to have a system within your application that will fetch the error message that a user may receive if they use their script that has errors in / is broken.

This way, the user will be able to fix their errors within your application, and then run their script again, within your application. All without having to leave and use an external site.
