VirtualBlue is my very first theme within MyBB, and hopefully not the last I'll ever be making. VirtualBlue will aim in the future to be customisable for users, mobile friendly, and have a simple modern look to attract as many users as possible. I welcome all feedback, negative and positive with as much criticism as you can give, feedback on how to fix such issues would really help a lot. I hope you guys enjoy it!

I released a theme just before I've gone off on holiday and I couldn't post it as I had to wait for it to be approved. I'm here to show it off to you guys in hopes you guys want to try it out or give feedback. This took me about a week or two to complete, that being like an hour or two every day. It's my first theme and I do believe I found things I forgot to do after I released it in which I hope to update.

PS. if someone knows how to resize with the image tags please let me know.

If you can show me what the image tags are I should be able to do it for you.

The little chat bubble? The class is forum_status, so you should be able to resize it from your CSS file.

When sharing an image, you can use [img=200x200] I believe.

It looks decent. Glad somebody's uploading stuff to community.mybb.com as when it comes to graphic stuff there, it's really poor and uninteresting.

I notice people upload some edits where only a couple things have been changed which sucks. I just wanted to upload it somewhere where at least you can browse for themes, instead of just self advertising mine.

That theme is actually pretty clean, I like the header on it.

Supermany - June 7, 2016, 12:49 pm

I've updated the overall theme, I hated the old design and looking to get back into this project. Really would love feedback, looking to get in a custom profile page for the next update!

For your first MyBB theme I really think you have done a great job! Keep it up man! I was wondering do you actually offer a service for MyBB themes?

Disses - October 29, 2016, 5:53 pm

Blues and blacks are similar yes, navigation bar doesn't work the same as theirs, under the username bit is a dropdown box with all the usercp/pms.

I see what you're saying in terms of similarity but definitely not trying to copy ?
