Hey guys,

I'm not sure if this trick has been released on here before, probably not.

But this trick allows you to use the same e-mail over and over again for website's who don't allow you to have more accounts on the same e-mail address. You can use it for tons of other purposes of course.

Here's how it works:

For example, if your e-mail is: john.doe@gmail.com.

All you have to do is put a + behind it and whatever you want, it will all come to the same inbox.

For example these combinations:

john.doe+1@gmail.com

john.doe+2@gmail.com

john.doe+3@gmail.com

john.doe+efwfweger@gmail.com

john.doe+tjrtje@gmail.com

john.doe+wegewrg@gmail.com

All the above e-mails, will go to the same inbox "john.doe@gmail.com" but website's don't know that, they will just see it as a "new" e-mail address.

So no more struggles having to remember tons of passwords of e-mail addresses, you just register multiple accounts with the same e-mail just by throwing a + behind it.

This works for Gmail and Outlook.

I hate "post or PM to receive" threads.

So just be kind and leave a comment if you appreciate my post. ?

Works for Gmail and Outlook.

Not sure if it works for Yahoo etc.

But Gmail & Outlook are most important atm ?

Mr Chow - May 20, 2016, 3:49 am

This sounds too good to be true. Thanks :D

/riptide - May 20, 2016, 4:08 am

This will make my life so much easier

Junx - May 20, 2016, 6:01 am

Thanks for this.

I used to use @googlemail.com and @gmail.com to use the same email twice but this is much better.

Tommy Chong- - May 20, 2016, 6:03 am

Damn, if i only knew this before, i kept on adding 1 - 2 -3 and so forth to my emails

Nice share

This will definitely come in handy, thanks for this!

Lexxi - May 22, 2016, 7:49 am

thanks, what about sites that want mobile for verification, they suck ass often when same number is used

Varane - May 22, 2016, 7:50 am

Man, thank you alot for this. Saved a shit ton of emails.

HiddenEyE - May 22, 2016, 7:55 am

thanks alot for this man. it's really handy to me

Ninja - May 22, 2016, 7:56 am

Also works with a dot. This has been around for ages.

Forsen - May 22, 2016, 9:00 am

Nice, now I can make a new HF account with my moms email :D

James Burnham - May 24, 2016, 4:23 am

This is a really cool thing. I believe that if you get a 3-4 letter gmail you can do a lot with it
