

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What is this symbol for?

A Powerade - May 19, 2016, 5:39 pm

So I went to report a post just now and I saw that the report pop-up window had a weird speaker symbol in it:

What does it mean? (if it even means anything related to HF)

Retribute - May 19, 2016, 5:54 pm

My guess would be that your browser decided to mute the pop-up window.
It's not HF related.

$lick - May 19, 2016, 6:47 pm

It means that Macs suck.

Not HF related.

RumbleFrog - May 19, 2016, 7:04 pm

I think it means the tab is being muted.

A Powerade - May 19, 2016, 7:10 pm

(May 19, 2016 05:54 PM)Retribute Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My guess would be that your browser decided to mute the pop-up window.

It's not HF related. (May 19, 2016 07:04 PM)RumbleFrog Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think it means the tab is being muted.

Huh, weird. This is the only time the mute icon has looked like this.

Usually it's like this:

RumbleFrog - May 19, 2016, 7:28 pm

(May 19, 2016 07:10 PM)Morbidity Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Huh, weird. This is the only time the mute icon has looked like this.

Usually it's like this:

Check your sound? I think it displays that if you're on mute and the tab is trying to play something