Thread: DarkFedora.com | Free VPN | Port Forwarding | 13+ Locations | Custom Client

Nalum - May 20, 2016, 5:18 pm

Hello Fellow HF Users

[img]http://darkfedora.com/F1.png[/img]

I have decided to offer all the users of HF a free VPN with a multitude of features including a custom client, Port Forwarding and 13+ Locations.

Visit <https://darkfedora.com> on the lower part of the website you will find a section titled free trial code generator, below that you will find a generated code that you will need to copy. Once copied client the register tab and create an account, use the code you copied to redeem your free month of service.

These codes generated on the homepage will always be unique and will always work. Once your membership expires visit the homepage again and get your self another code to renew your membership.

All packages purchased will be going towards the cost and operation of the VPN and to improve this service i offer to you guys out my own pocket.

I hope you enjoy this service and that you find it useful, feel free to open a ticket should you encounter any bugs or if you have a feature request.

CUSTOM CLIENT HAS NOW BEEN RELEASED!
HEAD OVER TO OUR WEBSITE AND SIGNUP FOR AN ACCOUNT YOU WILL THEN BE ABLE TO DOWNLOAD THE NEW CUSTOM CLIENT!

Here are instructions for users who are not familiar with setting up/using openvpn:

Quote:OpenVPN GUI Instructions:

1. Download OpenVPN GUI from <https://openvpn.net/index.php/open-source/downloads.html> If you have a 32 bit operating system get the 32 bit version, if you have 64 bit operating system get the 64 bit version.
2. Install the software, then login to DarkFedora.com and go to the Downloads Tab. Download the config zip folder.
Extract the files.
3. Place the files in the following directory:
If you installed the 32 bit version: C:\Program Files\OpenVPN\config
If you installed the 64 bit version: C:\Program Files (x86)\OpenVPN\config
4. Launch OpenVPN-GUI as Admin
5. Right click on the OpenVPN-GUI icon in your task bar and you should be able to connect to the different servers.

6. Enter the credentials provided to you on the right on the dashboard page by clicking <https://darkfedora.com/members/index.php>

Here are some speedtests i ran to test the speeds of some of our locations.

VPN Speedtest (All Speed Tests were executed from Florida)

Is this TCP 443? lmk thanks

DanteStigma - May 21, 2016, 9:59 am

Cool but what about those people who actually buy it? i mean those speedtest are too low if there is multiple users at same time using data bandwidth requiring highspeed data transfer, these speeds really will kill.

Is this perhaps a limit for VPN clients? or for trial users to not abuse server for DDoS things?

Anyway, good thing but im really afraid of VPN products from HF, especially those who offers even to download their own VPN software, nah, not my thing don't take it personal.

Yes indeed it is! however i would not suggest using it until the custom client comes out within the next couple days.

@DanteSigma Not sure what you are talking about, your statements/questions don't make much sense at all. Pm me if you need some clarification.

Perhaps this is a nooby question but how do you actually install it?!

Romping - May 22, 2016, 8:36 am

I tried this out, it's very nice. Good luck in the future with this OP.

You may have to signup again as we didnt migrate our old database to our new system due to their differences, also you can find a 1 month code on the homepage :)

try it again and let me know should you have any further issues!

Cheers!
