Thread: [SELLING ITEMS \[TRUSTED BTC ONLY\]](#)

CallisterX - May 23, 2016, 3:40 pm

I have a 4000-5000 inventory. My prices are going to be 5% cheaper than OPSkins. I would do a BTC cashout on their website, but I can't confirm my identity. Under 18.

THIS POST WILL CONTINUOUSLY BE UPDATED, KEEP CHECKING IT.

99.9% i've just been scammed.

Item has been sent, he replies back:

"Actually don't send just yet, about to go for food, will be back in 30 mins."

Despite the trade already being accepted by himself.

Scam report will be made in 45 minutes, if BTC isn't sent.

I really hope you did not get scammed.

We have middlemans on this forum if you didn't know.

I use zSentry with almost 10 different knives for over 1-2 years, he's someone I would trust even if the deal is as small as $5-10.

Well I mean, if your not going to even use a MM atleast check the person's rep. If the dude has open scam reports that are linked on his profile, and you don't check anything about the individual tbh your asking to get scammed.

The guy had 16 scam reports.

True and well said my friend. By the way, don't ask the user for it back because you will be wasting you're time, if the OP user above is correct about the 16 scam reports which are open.

Also, sell these skins to zSernity. He takes them at 60% Paypal.

I'm not sure why it'd matter how I got them, anyway. But it was gambling.

If I was going to sell, it'd just be in bulk to a website who advertises on Sythe - as they buy for 65%.
Sorry man.

The profile link doesn't work for me, csgobackpack says "There are no users that match your search."
