

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Security Idea?

C Doubt - May 23, 2016, 3:45 pm

Maybe when switching email's you have to confirm the switch via your old email.

?Ñåzg?! - May 23, 2016, 3:56 pm

Might be a problem if you lose access to the old email

if you switch emails does it send a message to the old one indicating that a switch occurred?

R2-D2 - May 23, 2016, 4:11 pm

not a good idea since the most popular reason to change your email is, because you lost access to it.

(May 23, 2016 03:56 PM)?Ñåzg?! Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) if you switch emails does it send a message to the old one indicating that a switch occurred?Just checked my old email and it looks like you don't get a email about that.

C Doubt - May 23, 2016, 4:14 pm

(May 23, 2016 03:56 PM)?Ñåzg?! Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Might be a problem if you lose access to the old email

if you switch emails does it send a message to the old one indicating that a switch occurred?

yea either that or it makes you confirm it. i Know a lot of site's that do that..

Doctor Blue - May 23, 2016, 5:25 pm

MyBB 1.8 does this.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

The feature will come when the upgrade does.