I'd have more trolls select that than the current trolls are selecting 65+.

I'm just going to not count any of the 65+ answers. If you feel so strongly that you should be included as you are 65+, you can send me some sort of proof. ?

Not to be a dick but you really could've just searched. There have been same threads just recently made by Glitch and me. I don't see why you needed to make another one. And there were 100+ votes in one of them, if I remember correctly.

I like to do my own research with my own poll options and own results.

I'm well aware of the other threads with the same purpose and even debated doing this as a question. It's all about my personal preference.

I understand where you're coming from, however.

Also, this is a tad more current.
