For anyone needing a cracker I would highly suggest this cracker over the other ones in the market. Good luck with sales Axis.

Guys, just a little bug I found while playing around with it.

If you try and export a list of cracked accounts, and it says "Sorry, you have no items to export.", do the following steps:

- 1) Go to the Proxy Scraper tab
- 2) Click "Scrape"
- 3) Go back to the Cracker tab
- 4) Now click Export. Should work.

Will roll out an update fixing the bug soon.

I was simply trying to give customers an idea of what was going on in that gif I posted. I was running the cracker at 2000 threads. If I was running it at 10 threads, I would have stated 10 threads. Wasn't a selling point, simply an observation.

Asynchronous basically just means the computer won't wait on things. Most code is synchronous so that means everything is done in order and it waits for each instruction to complete before moving on. This is an issue when it comes to tasks that take a "long" time to complete such as disk IO or networking operations. This is why we have multithreaded systems and thread preemption. An example of asynchronous code would be to implement an event system. So you would send all of your web requests (up to a specified amount), then as they complete an event would fire and a handler would decide what to do with the results, then the process repeats. Instead everything I've seen related to cracking just spawns a fuck ton of threads full of blocking calls (blocking means it waits for completion before moving on).

You provide your own list of usernames and passwords, the combo gen just cross references them with each other and turns them into a combo list instead of having them separated.

I might give this a try later on. You are able to manually select the amount of threads you use. You're able to select a value up to the number of combos you imported, but the multithreading is extremely fast, and it actually works, so I wouldn't suggest going over 300 threads after this new update.

Actually the speed at which it cracks is dependent on many factors. Since I'm the coder I would be able to give you the best answer.

- 1) The most important is whether you use a proxy or not. If you don't use a proxy it will be really really fast, but not all modules are proxyless. The only one I think that is proxyless is Netflix.
- 2) The speed of your connection/proxy you use. If the proxy you use is slow as fuck then it will be slow as hell to crack for each try. But I implemented a "Timeout" feature as a workaround, so if the connection is taking longer than x amount of seconds it breaks.
- 3) The amount of dead proxies you have in the system affects the speed because proxies are selected by random. So if the ones you import are all dead then that's no good. I also tried to workaround this issue by making the system "Remove" any dead proxies as it goes along. Therefore actually making the proxy system work faster in the long run.
- 4) Another factor is the amount of steps required to actually attempt to "login". So if a site requires you to first visit their page then submit a login request, then that's two steps required. So if the more steps required and you have a slow network/proxy connection then that's not good. Basically, steps * connection speed. Read 2 again.

5) Another point is the amount of accounts you import. If you import one account to crack, the factor in the point 1, 2, 3 and 4. And also factor the point that, if it has one account only to try to crack, it can only use one thread max as this tool is created for checking mass amounts rather than just a few.

6) Second to last, the amount of threads you use effects the speed. If you have like 500 imported lists and use 100 threads, that it will get done quicker as opposed to using 10 threads. The more threads your computer can create the better.

7) Lastly, yes, computer specs does help cracking. Someone that has a core i7 can crack twice as much as someone with core i5 or below simply because core i7s support hyperthreading. Also, the more CPUs/Cores you have on your computer the better.

BUT to sum everything up really, to have a nice cracking experience, import a good decent sized list, make sure you have a list of good/working proxies. Use the proxy scrape feature. A lot of their proxies are good. And finally, use a good number of threads relative to your cpu specs and the amount of items you import.

So basically it like any other cracker, you got a username list and password list which means you better hope whatever account your trying to crack uses a easy to guess pass... You can do this with free cracker and just down load free combo list... Please enlighten me on how its instant also when it has to go thru millions of combos?

EDIT:crack my HF account and I'll believe its the best cracker, cause I know for fact no way any combo list is gonna have my password.

EDIT2: Just so you guys know he had to neg rep me because he knows I'm right about his product.. If you pay for this you are dumb it just like any cracker... And it's not gonna happen instantly like he false advertises. If I was wrong he would of cracked my HF account but obvious Mr.prohacker over here is scamming with coding a pretty gui and same old cracker you can find on google... GG LOLOL he basically telling you in his own ToS is a rip off..

"-You may not chargeback. Any problems - click the support tab.

-Do not post any problems in our sales thread. PM us.

-Refunds given at my discretion. No refunds unless the cracker clearly doesn't work."

Don't post problems on your thread saying don't post on my thread if it doesn't work because I know it like every other free cracker that is not gonna cracking a exact picked account 9.9/10 times.... And i got some that has a licenses that gonna show you source if just like free ones so go a head rep fuck me cause i'm gonna laugh when you get banned. And btw you - rep me for asking a question? Sounds like a person I would want to buy product from right? Or NAH

(Oct 9, 2016 09:56 PM)BoopieMods Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) progress bar just stops bro...this shit won't even crack my own twitter... like cmonIf the progress bar stops, it's still running through the list of proxies trying to find a valid one. If it runs through the whole list without finding a valid one, a box will pop up telling you that there are no valid proxies remaining.

Video tutorial on how to use this tool going up tonight, I'm getting too many questions asking how to use it. The video should explain everything, it is pretty simple.

Sorted out the problem some people were having about the social media accounts not being cracker. Every single one with a problem was due to the proxies they were using being dead.

Just realised the thread design wasn't showing because the image link was HTTP and not HTTPS Considering purchasing lifetime first thing tomorrow. Axis, if I did is there any way you could provide any form of assistance with collecting both a decent username and password list? Or anyone else maybe? If i'm spending 30$ i'd like at least a little bit of guidance here aha. Thanks.

I can't reply to PM's or PM yet which kinda sucks. I'm not sure i'm as interested in cracking anymore though because I was talking to my friend about it and he kind of discouraged me with how he said how much luck it would take to get any good usernames or anything worthwhile. Plus it's hard to find a good combolist or to even make your own list. I might still buy but i'm on the edge now, but looks like a great program.

Gonna purchase a sticky for this now.

Also going to take a look at fixing the Instagram module, shouldn't take too long at all.
