Thread: Looking for closure Naruto

So currently watching the original series, however just finished ninja storm 4. I know I spoiled lots of it however not really that bothered.

Also read about it finishing and something about Narutos son.

So what happens after the 4th war, does sasuke return, are the fillers in shippuden any good, is it over.

I just ended up reading the manga, I got tired of the filler. Manga is quick and to the point, and finally gave some closure to this ridiculously long series.

It's close to ending.

The filler so far including the infinite tsukuyomi dreams has been great imo. The most recent filler is about Kaguyas origin and its definitely worth a watch. I already read the manga quite a while ago, so my opinion could be different compared to those who watch the anime only. Basically i'm up for any new content that they can provide before the anime ends. Sasuke does return but he only stays for moments at a time then its back on the road protecting the village from the shadows.
