Thread: Supernatural Season 11 Season Finale

GroveStreetOG - May 26, 2016, 8:49 pm

Finale was aired on the 25th of May, I feel like they could have ended it there perfectly but season 12 will be made :/

Just curious on what your guys thoughts was. I thought the episode was amazing but feel like they might be dragging it on at this point.

In my opinion they've been dragging it on since S8 Maybe even before then to be honest. i mean it's getting ridiculous and i'm a big fan of the show.

In my opinion they could have ended back in season 5 ish Spoiler \(Click to View\) back when Lucifer and Michael were supposed to fight

i thought it was alright. I wonder what's gonna happen next season

I thought it was okay I guess....but honestly that's the only show I really enjoy, so if they make another I honestly don't care and I hope they keep making more seasons.

Well they did - Sam getting shot, Dean and their Mom trying to track down the UK branch of the "Men of letters" and some hints towards the fact the UK branch knows more than they should about the god/angel/demon complex

I thought the entire Darkness/God story was kinda dumb (considering how little time they spend on it each episode). I'd much rather have them traveling and fighting less important monsters and stuff.

You are quite right I was pretty stoned when I saw it ?

Anyways this would be the perfect last episode for the whole series what bigger than the two biggest forces in the world..

Is there gonna be another season?

Yes, they have already confirmed it.

They'll probably drag it on for as long as possible considering the following it holds.
