

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: ALS Ice Bucket Challenge August 2016

Prepper - May 27, 2016, 12:30 am

So obviously the ice bucket challenge is set to start on August of 2016, who all here is going to participate in the challenge?

I most likely am going to.

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 12:40 am

Nah. I am not a scientist but some how I don't think pouring cold water on my head will cure a disease, I could be wrong I am not a scientist.

I am also not a big fan of wasting water.

7even - May 27, 2016, 12:42 am

(May 27, 2016 12:40 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah. I am not a scientist but some how I don't think pouring cold water on my head will cure a disease, I could be wrong I am not a scientist.

I am also not a big fan of wasting water.

Its not about curing it you dip. People pour water on their heads and if they don't then they are supposed to donate towards finding a cure. Stop being a smart ass. Plus water cannot actually be wasted, its a self renewable element.

?Arrow-? - May 27, 2016, 12:44 am

Lol no that's fucking stupid

ZeroDayExploit - May 27, 2016, 12:47 am

Lmao, I would participate in this even though it is very cringy. People only did it because other people were doing it and not seeing why people were doing it. It is supposed to simulate what people with ALS have.

Jacoder23 - May 27, 2016, 12:47 am

I'm a 12 year old, so no not really.

Though I love seeing people pouring ice water over themselves to support a cause.

Has anyway actually confirmed that this is helping at all?

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 12:48 am

(May 27, 2016 12:42 AM)Rainy. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Its not about curing it you dip. People pour water on their heads and if they don't then they are supposed to donate towards finding a cure. Stop being a smart ass. Plus water cannot actually be wasted, its a self renewable element.

- 1) It was sarcasm.
- 2) It doesn't do shit, people don't donate.
- 3) Drinkable water can be wasted.

Without googling, tell me what ALS stands for. Bonus point how many people you got to donate by throwing water on your head.

(May 27, 2016 12:47 AM)Jacoder23 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm a 12 year old, so no not really.

Though I love seeing people pouring ice water overthemselves to support a cause.

Has anyway actually confirmed that this is helping at all?

I assume maybe if your on fire it can help, but if you mean how does it help ALS, it doesn't. Unless of course again if the person with ALS was on fire.

7even - May 27, 2016, 12:52 am

(May 27, 2016 12:48 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3) Drinkable water can be wasted.

You're mental. Turn on a faucet and I guarantee you it won't run out unless your broke ass cant afford the bill.

Quote:Without googling, tell me what ALS stands for. Bonus point how many people you got to donate by throwing water on your head.

Something lateral sclerosis. I did a project on this in my Psychology class.

Desolate Night - May 27, 2016, 12:53 am

Not going to participate because I don't have friends that will challenge me.

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 12:55 am

(May 27, 2016 12:52 AM)Rainy. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You're mental. Turn on a faucet and I guarantee you it won't run out unless your broke ass cant afford the bill.

Something lateral sclerosis. I did a project on this in my Psychology class.

1) If you live in a city with shared water you are wasting the cities water. Some states like California have huge drought problems, and will fine you for wasting water.

2) If everyone wastes water we have a problem.

3) It was a joke.

4) Good for you I bet you still googled that

5) How many people have you saved by pouring water on your head?

ZeroDayExploit - May 27, 2016, 12:55 am

I love when my post is completely relevant to OP's post I do not get quoted at all, instead the irreverent kids do, Well done.

'Ben - May 27, 2016, 12:57 am

(May 27, 2016 12:48 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 1) It was sarcasm.

2) It doesn't do shit, people don't donate.

3) Drinkable water can be wasted.

Without googling, tell me what ALS stands for. Bonus point how many people you got to donate by throwing water on your head.

I assume maybe if your on fire it can help, but if you mean how does it help ALS, it doesn't. Unless of course again if the person with ALS was on fire.

Do you know why you're supposed to throw ice water over your head? It causes the body to react similar to ALS so people can get a very small glimpse at what it's like having ALS.

Not sure how you can say people don't donate when the previous challenge raised over $100M. Just a shame that it doesn't all go into research instead most of it's lost due to taxes and other corporate funding which is stupid. World is run by greedy fucks. The rich get richer.

These little challenges help to get it out in the open, raise awareness. I guarantee most people had never heard of ALS until it became a trend and "celebrities" started joining in.

Anyway, each to their own. I don't take part either.

7even - May 27, 2016, 12:57 am

(May 27, 2016 12:55 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 4) Good for you I bet you still googled that Cant man up to defeat Quote:5) How many people have you saved by pouring water on your head?

They don't give you a number of lives saved, but I donated over $800 last year.

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 1:00 am

(May 27, 2016 12:53 AM)Exuberance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not going to participate because I don't have friends that will challenge me.

I challenge you to the HF aids bucket challenge.

What you do is post ascii of you dumping water on your head and if you do it we cure super aids.

I will start

_/

\O/

.|

.^

/\

~

\O/ [brrr, its cold, I challenge Exuberance, Ben & Rainy]

.|

.^

And no water wasted

Prepper - May 27, 2016, 1:01 am

(May 27, 2016 12:48 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3) Drinkable water can be wasted.

Drinkable water cannot be wasted, the world has a virtually unlimited supply of water, on top of that we have the technology to make salt water drinkable by removing the saline from the water.

And now that Antarctica is thawing there will be even more water.

It's not our fault that other countries have poor water supply because they lack the funds to provide a proper water treatment and collection system for there country.

Go to the beach get some salt water, put it in a pot and put a glass in there with it but do not fill the glass, get the water to boiling point but not to the point where it boils into the glass, put a lid on it upside down so the handle is facing directly to the cup, wait and guess what? you got fresh drinking water.

Salt water can be put into huge stills and be made drinkable, there is also filtration system capable of removing the saline as well.

So until you can come up with a true exact estimate of when billions of gallons of water will magically disappear from the ocean then the "wasting water" crap that is going around is bullshit.

7even - May 27, 2016, 1:02 am

(May 27, 2016 12:55 AM)ZeroDayExploit Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I love when my post is completely relevant to OP's post I do not get quoted at all, instead the irreverent kids do, Well done.

How am I being irreverent? I'm backing the OP's statement.

Prepper - May 27, 2016, 1:02 am

(May 27, 2016 12:48 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 2) It doesn't do shit, people don't donate.

If that is the case then how did they raise over 100 million dollars from the ice bucket challenge alone?.

Desolate Night - May 27, 2016, 1:05 am

I think you guys need to take a step back and stop being salty at each other. Fuck arguing, who has got time for that?

Prepper - May 27, 2016, 1:06 am

(May 27, 2016 12:57 AM)Ben??? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you know why you're supposed to throw ice water over your head? It causes the body to react similar to ALS so people can get a very small glimpse at what it's like having ALS.

Not sure how you can say people don't donate when the previous challenge raised over $100M. Just a shame that it doesn't all go into research instead most of it's lost due to taxes and other corporate funding which is stupid. World is run by greedy fucks. The rich get richer.

These little challenges help to get it out in the open, raise awareness. I guarantee most people had never heard of ALS until it became a trend and "celebrities" started joining in.

Anyway, each to their own. I don't take part either.

I didn't know about ALS until the 2014 challenge, seen the videos popping up on Youtube one day and then I looked into it and I was like oh thats cool.

So I have to agree 100% with you on that it raises awareness considering these challenge made me aware of ALS.

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 1:07 am

(May 27, 2016 01:05 AM)Exuberance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think you guys need to take a step back and stop being salty at each other. Fuck arguing, who has got time for that?

I believe I challenged you here.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5283503&pid=51063250#pid51063250>

Do you support Aids? Or do you wanna do the challenge? If you don't do the challenge then we will all die of aids.

C0ldplay - May 27, 2016, 1:09 am

To the people saying it's useless;

How many of you knew about ALS before the challenge?
How many of you knew about ALS after the challenge?
How many people donated before the challenge?
How many people donated after the challenge?

Morrakiu - May 27, 2016, 1:10 am

(May 27, 2016 01:09 AM)rob_ert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) To the people saying it's useless;

How many of you knew about ALS before the challenge?
How many of you knew about ALS after the challenge?
How many people donated before the challenge?
How many people donated after the challenge?
In order

3 People
4 People
3 People
4 People

7even - May 27, 2016, 1:11 am

(May 27, 2016 01:10 AM)Morrakiu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In order

3 People
4 People
3 People
4 People

I think you counted wrong considering you only have 2 friends.

B4ROT - May 27, 2016, 1:43 am

(May 27, 2016 12:52 AM)Rainy. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You're mental. Turn on a faucet and I guarantee you it won't run out unless your broke ass cant afford the bill.

Something lateral sclerosis. I did a project on this in my Psychology class.
You sound like a fucking idiot right now. My home state is in a serious drought right now, and it's getting pretty bad. We get hefty fines for going over the water limit (which is LOW).

I get what you're trying to say, but I think you don't realize water wasting actually is an issue. Not that the ALS ice water challenge is really that big of a deal... I'm not over here shaming anyone for "water wasting" when they participate in it. But I do think you need to reshape the way you view water conservation.