Thread: This Server Needs To Be Griefed

JoeDon16 - May 28, 2016, 12:03 am

Will someone grief vipfactions(dot)serv(dot)nu? They recently advertised on my server when my staff were away and have most of my players now. Can someone grief the spawn for me (im a noob at this kind of stuff)

Casual response: We're not your personal army of elite Minecraft hackers whom will rain hell upon servers upon your very request! hargargargblaargblahblahlah!!!

My response: Sending people to grief servers for you in very irresponsible and unprofessional, and makes your server look bad.

That means they're doing something right and you're not, if your players rather stick with their server.

Free staff on their shitty server is attractive to them -.- (Right now none are on it and are on mine so I guess something good is happening)

Sarcasm on: I thought it also irresponsible and unprofessional to advertise another server and trade items/money for staff on another server, I guess not! Time to go advertise my server on multiple others and give random people staff ranks in exchange for money and donor ranks!

Sarcasm off: We're a small server. We have about 5-20 people on at a time. The people who are staff on that server have advertised multiple times. We have banned them and they come on with alts or make their friends/players advertise. They've taken about 20 of our players, a few who are on for a few hours daily. A lot of those players have stopped playing on our server or have been banned due to their advertising. We need this to stop and thought that this place would help us take revenge in ways of greifing or otherwise.

Stop blaming them. If they successfully steal players and get them to stick around then they are doing something right and/or you are doing something wrong. And just because someone is a dick doesn't mean you have to do something bad to him too.

I understand what you mean - but when someone takes my players like this I want their server dead. They are complete idiots for doing that on MY server and I will do anything to get their server killed Isn't advertising/spamming another server the same? I say hell, to anyone who can, go ahead! The other server owner does after all deserve it for doing one of the shittiest things a server owner can do.

A need : A thing you or something can't survive without

A want : Something you want but can survive without it.

I'm pretty sure this server doesn't need to be grieved.

JoeDon16 - May 30, 2016, 8:29 pm

Bump - they're taking more of my players when my staff are offline

P1zza1s0kay - May 30, 2016, 9:20 pm

We'd just like help to get these guys to stop taking our players now. They're taking them while on the server, and off it in Skype. It's really getting bad. We're perma-banning them now, but they're finding other ways to take our players. We'd just like some help to stop them.

Their server needs the advertisers grieved for its survival, apparently. "You" doesn't have to pertain only to an individual. Never heard of modality, either?

> using want to define want anyways, I hopped on and I managed to get a moderator rank.

Props to them. The came onto your server, stole your players and the players wanted to stay. This server that had just said "hey come here its cool" manages to make a better server than you. Maybe put more effort into your server where players wouldn't leave in an instant.

I've put more work into my server than theirs. It's just that players like free staff crap xD
