Thread: Custom Tabcontrol

Naywyn - May 28, 2016, 1:52 pm

Hey, it's just a minimal tabcontrol I made, wanted to share it.

Looks amazing man keep up the good work quick question how do i add the images to the left side of the tab control as you have in the preview image ?

Edit-

quick search on YouTube and found how to do it if anyone else wants to know how here is the video i watched

All it is is an image and a string on each tab...

Not impressive in my book.

If we put it this way all your themes are just fancy shapes and colors.

Fancy shapes and colors > an image and text.

A square with round corners and a plain color < an image and text.

With how plain it is, it still is original and no one else has made one like it... js. Kudos to Naywyn for hooking everyone up with such smooth controls/themes, thanks buddy!

You're comparing a button to a tab control...

It's not all about shapes either... A good theme in my opinion is one that brings something new to the table. It's good to stray away from the ordinary controls. A good color scheme and some similarity in design principles are a requirement.

Looks nice to me, simple is how I like it. :)

decent job @ op

text and image never failed ?

also did a custom listview however too bulky and just plain sucks balls so made custom control container
