Thread: ETH for Upgrades

Omniscient - May 28, 2016, 5:56 pm

I have it set now so that ETH (Ethereum) can be used for all the upgrade levels.

I still only take BTC for stickies but depending on what ETH does over the next few months I may consider accepting it as well.

Thanks.

Damn, guess it's a good implementation, although I'm just gonna stick with BTC as it seems more stable.

7even - May 28, 2016, 6:04 pm

I'll definitely research ETH and I may consider investing in it.

Bluffer - May 28, 2016, 6:04 pm

Always good to see new payment methods arise.

TRAUMA - May 28, 2016, 6:04 pm

Do you plan on investing in ETH Omni?

I guess these awards etc are your investment..

Caliban - May 28, 2016, 6:05 pm

Hehe seems like you really start believing in ETH

currently getting my wallet ready but damn its been 3 hours and its still downloading blocks :/

big dick rick - May 28, 2016, 6:05 pm

omni gonna get all us sad cunts using eth by the end of summer

It is actually worth it, I can see that it has potential.

Ace Of Jesus - May 28, 2016, 6:05 pm

Omni, where can we buy ETC? Thanks

big dick rick - May 28, 2016, 6:06 pm

sorry for hijacking the thread, can anyone lead me in some legitimate places to buy eth?

Sadistic - May 28, 2016, 6:08 pm

I support this decision, I think that soon ETH Will become close to BTC's globalness

Easy to check CMC Market listings.

<http://coinmarketcap.com/currencies/ethereum/#markets>

Shapeshift.io ?

Granny Bacon - May 28, 2016, 6:22 pm

Or Poloniex.com but those fuckers won't accept exchanges under 1ETH.

The award costs something like 1.2x ETH at the time of writing, so poloniex.com is an option.

well thats a possibility but im sure it will take more than 1-2 years to even come close to the popularity of btc.

Not so sure it will take that long if supported by Coinbase.

$12 ETH could be $120 in a year. Honestly, just read what ETH is and what it does and the reception it's getting from the tech community that understands what it does and how it's not just an alt-coin but an alt-technology. LTC got big quick for it's very slight twist in the mining. ETH jumps way ahead of what BTC does as far as the backend. It's extremely advanced.

Would only take a few big key players to push it and it will just replace BTC in a matter of months. Heck, the mining halving coming up could be a serious catalyst for the BTC miners to jump ship and join up with ETH.

I should read up on this more, sounds like it has a lot of potential. And true with mining halving in July who knows what could happen. May as well buy a few coins while they're cheap. At $12 there's not much risk.

Nice to see more options for upgrades. I think I will be doing my research on ETH now.

funtela - May 28, 2016, 7:05 pm

Made a helpful guide if you guys need help buying ETH :)
