

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Generic kinds of web based attacks? email hack

jrcommando - July 8, 2010, 11:52 am

Im a noob. just started hacking. and i was interested in hacking email accounts. i was wondering if there are any other different kind of attacks then sql injection. Also wondering if anyone knows of a good tutorial on how to do this.

it seems like most people just want to charge for that kind of service instead of teaching.

Frosty! - July 8, 2010, 11:55 am are you trolling? please tell me your trolling? Guys, he's Trolling right?

jrcommando - July 8, 2010, 12:11 pm

no im not. i just want to learn.

Viral Dragon - July 8, 2010, 12:48 pm

jrcommando.

If you want to learn I'd be more than happy to teach you, and also, there are plenty of tutorials if you do better that way. Just that, I somehow think you're trolling too (no offense). But to answer your questions. Yes there are other attacks besides SQLi such as XSS, RFI, LFI, RCE, HTMLi and so on and so forth. As for hacking email accounts.... You can't really "hack" them persay because to do so you would need to hack into the actual database or server hold the information. What you would be doing is more like "cracking". Which is usually done via phishing, keylogging, RAT, Social Engineering, and so on.

-Viral.