Thread: Should I get this gaming PC mouse?

Kind of debating whether I should get this gaming mouse for £35 ($51ish).
It's made by Logitech.

A description:

13 programmable controls. A natural shape that fits your hand. Full-speed wireless for freedom without performance compromises. No matter what your game, you'll have the control you need to get deep into it.

Full details:

And £34.99 (unused) is a decent price for it too considering it's priced a lot more at RRP.
What do you guys think?

I'm not really into gaming but i think you should go buy some gift cards here on HF for %70 from the original price so u can save some money

I think it's a good mouse, looks comforting. I'd get one.
