LOOKING FOR RESELLER TICKET SENT

Squito - June 26, 2016, 11:32 am

Pirated WHMCS, outdated MySQL and PHP... don't deal with this guy!

Mr.MK - June 26, 2016, 11:48 am

Stay away from Red-H hosting Services aka FuturHeberg aka Maxime B.

He is behaving like a 12 year old child.

After a month of using our service he asked for refund "because he doesnt use our service anymore and got his services at soyoustart" and threatens with chargeback being very abusive and calling me asshole, to fuck myself and such.

You will find alot of reports by just googling maxime b.

A example:

I didn't receive any hosting.

Lufasu - June 30, 2016, 3:38 am seems like is all outdated mate..

you fix it ?

His domain is using an illegal version of WHM, and thus is providing illegal versions of cPanel to all users on this service. Deal With Extreme Caution: Using this service could lead to legal issues for you.

note: User is now using a 15 day trial of WHM. I still find it very shady that they were using an illegal copy of WHM until yesterday (when they decided to start a 15 day trial). They were offering this service in this thread illegally for a month+...

The OP is now using a WHM trial of 15 days, but I find it extremely sketchy that they were using an illegal copy at first.

Since i do like to give people chances, i got to test his service out.

What i like: Fast and instant setup, reseller i got access too and it was legit and server seems to be ok for now (Great load times) and of course no heavy loads as of yet so there is no abuse on the server so seems stable.

What i dont like: The license of WHM and cpanel is trial version so it gives that horrible trial message everywhere throwing the eye directly at that nasty "Trial" message. OP needs to purchase the license otherwise i dont see many people purchasing any packages other than asking for free copies which of course will lead to no income causing the server to go under (If of course you are paying for it).

I do understand and most people did it (Heck i did it) you start off small and use bad services to host the content (I never used fake or illegitimate software but i did use cheap stuff) I highly suggest using BoxcBilling software if you cant afford WHMCS yet as boxbilling is cheap and cheerful (works but not great). When you start making money go up the line and buy yourself that cpanel and whm license! Then when you are making enough enabling yourself to hold a stable income then move onto buying WHMCS and going from there.

Sadly in this line of work, you do indeed need money to make money. All this trial and illegal versions you may or may not be using can get yourself a very bad reputation in which seems to be happening as of now.

Suggestions:

I suggest you take a break, shut things down if its getting too much and gather yourself your mind your thoughts and put them together to make a workable plan.

Purchase the important things first then add any addons in the future when your boats sailing!

Another and last issue is the whole language situation, i understand the language is your own but hackforums generally has english spoken members which majority of ARE and therefore i highly suggest either making some sort of system to change between languages on your MAIN website not whmcs now etc but your main site have an option for french or english or whatever but make it possible otherwise you are limiting yourself with limited buyers for that language set.

My reviews over, Good luck with sales and hope you take everything i said on board!

DEAL WITH CAUTION!

In the past, OP has used an illegal version of WHM to offer webhosting to HF users. This could have led to multiple HF users seeing their sites and projects shut down without any chance at backing up their hard work.

Furthermore, OP has frequently stolen the threads of HF members because he's an illiterate fuck who can't type his own content for shit. He has copied & pasted the threads of Int3rp0l, me, and other HQ members on this forum that offer free hosting or hosting info in this section. OP is LQ and not to be trusted.

This thread here is a duplicate of: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5348164>
