Thread: What do you do to prevent peeing a little more after you finish?

I'm sure most guys have the issue of after they finish peeing, a little more comes out. This is quite an issue when you are wearing grey or another color of pants that shows it.

What do y'all do to prevent this?

Spend an extra 20 seconds making sure my hose is empty.

Shake your penis and make all the drops of pee come out before pulling it in your pants again.
Gay but works.

Wring it out like a tube of toothpaste.

Why is there a thread about this again?

It's the lounge, what would you expect man?

Zip it up in ziplock bag to prevent it from leaking. Just make sure you wash the ziplock every time you shower.

Jiggle my shit till it's empty.

I'd recommend just doing the helicopter afterwards to make sure every drop comes out but in all seriousness just shake it a bit

Normally if you pee on your pants instead of a toilet, you can entirely change the color of them so you'd be good.

I usually grab the shaft of my dick and carefully squeeze out the piss that was left until blood comes out.

I don't step away from the urinal when I'm initially finished. We all know the first initial finish is a government ploy used by the big man to control society.

I just sorta jerk it off a few times 'til it's all out.
