Thread: [\(rip\)The Brotherhood // Ebook Filter \(Removes most Ebooks\) \[Beta\]](#)

$lick - June 4, 2016, 1:18 am

This plugin will scan thread titles for popular words used by Ebook sellers, each keyword found will add weight to the thread, if the thread passes a certain point it will be removed. It's like a crappy neural network with no learning.

I plan to add reinforcement learning which will allow you to pick out threads that have been incorrectly removed and the algorithm will learn to not prioritize those keywords as much.

Preview:

This is a preview of the debug mode, non-debug will show nothing obviously.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Debug mode:

Spoiler \(Click to View\) Enable by entering "&debug" or "?debug" in the URL.

This will show you a heat map for keywords.

Soon to come: White listing threads.

White listing keywords.

Adding/Removing keywords.

Changing keyword values.

Install:

(This script was made in less than an hour so it's kinda crappy, but Hash G. will get upset if I don't release one soon.)

($$$ detection highlights will be replaced with $$, this is a problem with RegEx in JavaScript and there's nothing I can do about it)

(You can stop reading this tiny text now you nosy son of a bitch)

This will surely prevent scams! Thanks!

GrandpaSherman - June 4, 2016, 1:26 am

So it's going to remove all of them? They're all pretty fuckin LQ to me.

All of them that triggers too many "bad" keywords, such as "Make money", "Income", "Profit", "Guaranteed" etc.

It will catch and remove most of them, I'm very limited in the information I have access too so it may miss some, but not many.

So all of them.

Why not just make a userscript that removes the section all together.

:D

Yes! This Sounds good to me. Love it! I think I Will Be installing it for Chrome. This is my first userscript that I've ever downloaded. So, I'm just wondering if it affects my PC performance in any way? Because I'm running it on my potato PC.

You won't even notice it's running.

Installed it and there was not a single thread in the section any more for the first 10 pages for sure.

It also works outside the Ebook section.

James Burnham - June 4, 2016, 10:36 pm

Indeed, in premium sellers section it works really well. I will keep that tool. But maybe you could make it delete the ebook section altogether?

Done, remove the old script and re-install from the thread.

James Burnham - June 4, 2016, 11:25 pm

I tried it with ewhoring section. For some reason it blocks a lot of threads even some that are just people asking for advice etc. Maybe you should put e-whoring section in an exception list?

Yeah I made it so it blocked ebook related stuff as well because this was originally a personal project.

You can disable it by removing the keywords.

Omoi - June 5, 2016, 7:43 am

lol pretty good but some people make questions asking about ebooks and how can we warn them :P

If they think eBooks are a good way to make money then they deserve to make no money.

Stashyy - July 13, 2016, 6:56 pm

Starting to use this now, I really dislike the damn ebook section. Thanks!

Used for a while now, love it! Makes HF much cleaner!

Baitable - January 7, 2017, 11:16 pm

I know I'm bumping this but it is great and removed all the stickies in the premium sellers section
LOL!
