Thread: Hallucinations in half/awake-half/asleep-state

I experienced another one this night. I "woke" up in the middle of the night, immediately seeing a tall man/woman with long hair standing by the side of my bed. Few seconds in, he/she starts bending over making a gruesome face while yelling something (I can't remember what) and starts grasping at me (I could actually feel it). I yelled "what the fuck" quite loud and stumped with my foot. "It" was gone after that. Those hallucinations are fucking me up pretty bad lately as they appear more and more (only during the night while waking up in a half asleep state, i'm not schyzofrenic or something). I've been going through a lot of stress lately (a lot of deadlines). Could that be the cause ? Did you ever experience something like that ?

tl;dr: hallucinating creepy shit when being in a half-awake state. Have you experienced something like it?

Honestly dude no problem, let me know if u need some adderall... ill hook you up Kappa. Who needs sleep, staying awake 24/7 keep u productive! Sleep is a waste of valuable time, u dont have a moment to lose.
