Asteriqz - June 6, 2016, 9:20 pm

Hey guys, logged in today after about a year of not using HackForums, i have lost all my positive reps but the negative ones remain?

Did HF get an update or something?

I was around ~+30. I was green :(

or have i been "repfucked" (which im not entirely sure what that means.)

It's because you reset your password and disabled your G2A, I also wouldn't post about this, be thankful your account isn't closed.

Okay thanks for that, had no idea!

Thanks for the swift reply.

Sorry about the thread Staff.

Name changed to Rep-Killed.

It means all your positive reps will be removed.

Junk this thread bro, you don't want staff to think you are complaining about reputation when you didn't know about the RKO that comes with account recovery (when you lose your 2fa).

Hello there a Rep Kill can be applied to an account for a verity of different reasons. Here is some more information on the matter but you most likely will not know exactly why it was applied to you.

What is a "Rep Kill"?

A "Rep Kill", previously known as a Rep Fuck, is where an admin permanently removes all of a member's current positive reputation. Once a "Rep Kill" has been given it is irreversible. Keep in mind that a "Rep Kill" was given for a reason; any complaining in posts or profile may result in a one month ban.

Rep Fuck was changed to Rep Kill a little while back here is the official thread about it.
