Don Pablo - June 9, 2016, 8:24 pm

That is the place i want to go to after work , light a huge joint & just chillout , forget about work & just enjoy =D

Kinguin - June 9, 2016, 8:25 pm

Yep, I see them often here in Norway, and it's really facinating and beautiful.

Whenever I see it, I'll just stand there for a few minutes watching it.

Steve - June 9, 2016, 8:25 pm

Yeah absolutely! I saw this awhile back, apparently you can rent out an igloo that has a glass ceiling and watch it all night! Check it out, looks like that would be the time of your life:

Miniscule - June 9, 2016, 8:25 pm

This is something I would also want to experience, maybe one day I can travel north to get the chance to see it.

Stomedy - June 9, 2016, 8:26 pm

That is so beautiful, it's like heaven in the sky.

Hell yes, and smoke some northern lights as well. That's my new dream.

Vitani's Mate - June 9, 2016, 8:53 pm

I haven't seen them yet since I live in the south hemisphere but I will get a chance to see one in my life.

I might see one when I go all over Europe in August.

JuicyJeremy - June 9, 2016, 8:54 pm

Always wanted to go see those, unfortunately live in a desert...

TopKekeroni - June 9, 2016, 9:31 pm

I have seen quite a lot of them, they are beautiful.

Narzi - June 9, 2016, 10:45 pm

That's definitely on my bucket list to be able to see that.

hey soul sister - June 9, 2016, 10:48 pm

I hope I get the opportunity to see them in person in my lifetime. They look absolutely gorgeous. We just had a pretty wicked thunderstorm roll through my town and it was amazing to see the sun set afterwards and all the colors that filled the sky. Stuff like this really blows my mind.

Sick - June 9, 2016, 10:50 pm

I would love to see something like this above me live

I have seen them on tv when i watch a tv program called gold rush set in the Yukon :-)

MeIT3d - June 9, 2016, 10:57 pm

I've seen them a bunch in my state. Not much though

Senor Suave - June 9, 2016, 11:00 pm

x0m- - June 10, 2016, 5:46 am

I'd love to see them so much I don't to travel somewhere to see them, I need to.

whoyodaddy - June 10, 2016, 5:50 am

Gilbo - June 10, 2016, 5:52 am

I have seen a few northern lights in Denmark, not as clear and visible as the one in the picture though

But still amazingly beautiful.

big blunt - June 10, 2016, 5:55 am

I really want to see it before i die! One of the things that are on my list to see/try.

I live near Norway so im thinking about going there for a couple of days and hopefully see it sense1 - June 10, 2016, 6:01 am

They are beautiful yes, but it's not in my bucket-list of things I want to do before I die; I really want to go skydiving before I die.

Fein - June 10, 2016, 6:03 am

I lived in Alaska for about 4 years, that was one of the plus sides to living there for sure.

Nasyr - June 10, 2016, 6:35 am

I've never seen them but I do think it would be an experience I would never forget. Maybe one day in the future it'll happen.

Cooligan - June 10, 2016, 6:57 am

The Northern Lights is definitely one of the things I want to see in person before I die. ?

It's too beautiful not to see it by then.

SMOKEDOUT69 - June 10, 2016, 7:03 am

Damn I think I could die a happy man if I ever got the chance to see this for real the best thing we get were I'm from are frickin rainbows and even they're little and far between oh the joys of being British lol

Valentino - June 10, 2016, 7:05 am

And watching Northern light :)

deluxe - June 10, 2016, 8:01 am

I live in Finland and never actually seen them. I should probably go even more north to see them. They are very beautiful though

Flamingo - June 10, 2016, 8:03 am

I used to live in Norway, and yeah I've been lucky enough to see it.

Honestly it's nothing like on pictures, it's way more amazing. It's hard to describe but it seriously amazes you the first time you see it.

The fact that you posted a MrSuicideSheep song on here, is just brilliant, love you for that.

JuiceWater - June 10, 2016, 8:51 am

I've seen them once when the sun realeased that huge solar flare about a year ago. It was a big red one you could see looking North at about a 45 degree angle. But it was all red, sort of shitty I would like to see a legit substorm.

Fish - October 12, 2024, 9:35 am

Bringing up this thread up because of the recent northern light show! Was anyone else able to see it?

sharn - October 12, 2024, 9:57 am

I saw the northern lights a few years ago while traveling and it was one of the highlights of my trip.

That's awesome!

I saw them a few days ago and it was WILD! Unlike anything I've ever seen before. You could clearly see them with your eyes. The sky was green, red, purple, and blue and the colours were dancing. It honestly seemed like I was on another planet

Only took 8 years from when I posted this thread to see them - can't give up! Gotta keep on pushing forward

Epic - October 12, 2024, 1:29 pm

I've never seen them unfortunately. Would love to one day. All the pictures I've seen from the latest event look amazing.

Toss - October 12, 2024, 1:35 pm

Never seen them but i'd love too

Mooooookie - October 12, 2024, 1:53 pm

I've never seen them in person, but I have seen them multiple times on video and they look bad ass. Definitely something I have on my bucket list.

Vip?r - October 12, 2024, 2:39 pm

Nope never seen it although I know it is breathtaking.

totalcontrol123 - October 12, 2024, 3:32 pm

once took a cruise ship to see the northern lights. didnt see any, got home and a month later they were in the uk.. still a lovely cruise

F4tDoinkz - October 12, 2024, 6:23 pm

Got a chance to see them myself. A couple nights ago. It was fucking amazing. I mean with the naked eye the sky above my house was lit up it was so dope. I'm 29 and it's the first time I've personally experienced it. Other people have recently but you could only see it through your phone.

Mooooookie - October 12, 2024, 11:04 pm

When I first saw this thread title, I thought you were referring to the marijuana strain Northern Lights.
