

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is there a program that tries every combination of password in a text box?

anarchypixelz - June 13, 2016, 12:35 pm

Is there a program that will try every combination of the alphabetical and numerical language into any password text box? Like for example I want to crack a wifi portal that does not have a password cool down. I know the username and I need a program that will try every combination and enter it into the password text box. Usually programs like these take time to crack passwords. Do anyone know anything?

D3xH3x - June 13, 2016, 1:38 pm

(Jun 13, 2016 12:35 PM)anarchypixelz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there a program that will try every combination of the alphabetical and numerical language into any password text box? Like for example I want to crack a wifi portal that does not have a password cool down. I know the username and I need a program that will try every combination and enter it into the password text box. Usually programs like these take time to crack passwords. Do anyone know anything?

Learning how to write automation scripts in something like Perl or Python would be a good start.

D

GuRuHaX - June 13, 2016, 3:01 pm

(Jun 13, 2016 12:35 PM)anarchypixelz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there a program that will try every combination of the alphabetical and numerical language into any password text box? Like for example I want to crack a wifi portal that does not have a password cool down. I know the username and I need a program that will try every combination and enter it into the password text box. Usually programs like these take time to crack passwords. Do anyone know anything?

Kali linux has what you ask , you can generate a wordlist that fit your needs with :

crunch

<http://tools.kali.org/password-attacks/crunch>

Example :

<http://null-byte.wonderhowto.com/how-to/hack-like-pro-crack-passwords-part-4-creating-custom-wordlist-with-crunch-0156817/>

For the wifi part you can try Hashcat ,Hydra , Medusa ... im sure there are even more (Google it).

Or if its really important for you you could ask a programmer to make a tool for you that does that but thats gonna cost ?

?

Morgunstjarna - June 13, 2016, 4:08 pm

Look up fireforce for firefox.

CyberKartoshka - June 15, 2016, 9:27 pm

If you actually cared about computer hacking you would have learned and played with basic programming/computer science, and would understand that this is very easy task.

