Sahaj's Application

[img]<http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif>[/img]

A Little Bit About Me:

My name is Sahaj, that's my IRL first name too. I'm a 17 year old guy from India. I love playing soccer, spending time with my girlfriend, being chill, and sharing my knowledge with others. I joined HF back in 2014, as a normal member doing nothing to earn money, and being hopeless, I couldn't afford to buy an upgrade, but a generous member believed in me, and upgraded me personally, I decided to show him, that he did the right thing. Today, I'm more HQ than any of the other members who made fun of me in the past for being a normal member who spoke the truth. If you're curious who the member who upgraded me was, here's his profile: Flaw. That was just my history on HF. I've always been a HQ and an active member on the forum, trying to help everyone where I can.

[img]<http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif>[/img]

Skills/Category That Describes Me The Best:

I am a graphics designer, I've been doing graphics designing on HF for over an year now. I'm a self taught graphics designer. Other than that, I know C++, a bit of C# and Python. These three languages are self taught as well. I also have knowledge in web development and designing, I know HTML/CSS, and a bit of Javascript and PHP.

Other than that, I also have been around security, I know SQL Injection and XSS. Currently, I'm learning Linux, and trying to master every aspect of Linux System Administration, because that's what I want to do in future as a full time job. I'm really interested in learning Linux, it's amazing how it works.

So I'd go with GFX Experts, it describes me the best.

What Differentiates Me From Others:

Well, I'm a pretty chill guy, don't go on posting to increase that post count, so expect HQ posts. Also, I am willing to help the group members with graphics, and also, can post tutorials in the name of the group on the forum, host giveaways in future in the name of the group. Other than that, I can do giveaways within the group.

[img]http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif[/img]

Other Info:

Country: India

Time Zone: UTC +5:30 (Although, I'm a nocturnal person and live by the American time zone.)

I spend 4-5+ hours on the forum everyday, so yeah, I'm an active member. I've never been scammed or have scammed yet, so there are no unresolved issues. Would love to see what you guys think of me, also, if I could do anything to improve my profile or presence on HF, would love to hear suggestions.

That's pretty much it, have a nice day.

How much time do you devote online per day?:

I recently got my Hack Forums account back, so if this question is referring to my activity on-site, then I spend probably about 2-3 hours. My time on the forums is spread out throughout the day, so I might wake up and browse for about 30 minutes, and then come back a couple of hours later to browse for another 30 minutes and so on. As per computer time in general, I spend about 12-16 hours a day online usually.

Which of the above mentioned categories describes you the best?:

I think the two above categories that best describe me are content writer and graphics expert, though for the graphics category I wouldn't necessarily consider myself an expert. I just do little things here and there -- so primarily content writer.

Do you have a portfolio or example of previous works?:

I don't have a portfolio, and I don't really have example of any written content, but I can however send you a couple of pictures privately as I do not wish to publicly share them for the sake of privacy.

I'm a full stack web developer with knowledge on practically all programming languages and latest technologies. I have a part time job as a web developer so I try to keep up with the latest trends regarding web development. I'm also very proficient with photoshop, so I can do all things graphics related. For my personality, I try to be helpful and make money while doing so. I enjoy helping others with their projects so I think joining a group is a great way to sharpen my skills, help others and make money. I enjoy working on large projects. I think I could bring a lot to the table. You can look at my history and see that I try to be as HQ as possible. It would be nice to join a community with the same ideals and maybe be able to collaborate towards the same goal.

Since I have a steady income, I could invest if we needed to. Please don't hesitate to ask me anything you may be interested in.

Holy shit, I can rant about a whole bunch of bullshit that's went wrong with this forum in the past three years!

But yeah, repfucks don't count, plus you don't count because you don't have an assload of awards. Everyone with 1,000+ rep count and has every single bought award automatically gets free entry to any group of their choosing at their discretion, hands down no questions asked, straight up access to a spot in any group real talk I've had it figured out for years and, yet, still no one believes me.

3) Which of the above mentioned categories describes you the best?

Doxers & Private Investigators

Out of all the categories, I prefer de-tracing and doxing as I quite enjoy it. I spend a lot of my time in this section and each day I learn more. I've gained new databases, techniques and tips and tricks to make it much easier to gain information on someone. In the past I offered a free doxing service as I wanted to improve my skills and I also enjoyed doing the service; doing something I enjoy and giving back to the community. Although I enjoy de-tracing and doxing I also believe it is my strong skill as well as Social Engineering, as I use both of them in similar situations.

I am most knowledgeable with my social engineering skills. I incorporate this with my doxing. For example when doxing somebody I can social engineer their email providers support and get access to their email to further build the dox and learn more about the person.

We recruit members regardless of rep, awards and its true. We've recruited those with and without awards too and assign their respective place on the tier system based on their skillset and these don't even play a factor. Why argue about something you have no idea about?

However, a few of the members have a passion for it, so, as a good group owner should do (criticize me for ass-kissing all you want, I'm just saying it how it is, plain and simple), Krave made it possible for us to discuss / recruit members based on a passion that some of the members have. How many group owners do you see doing that, leading a group into any other direction, other than the one THEY themselves as group owners want.

What you said Wrote:Isn't that what every group owner wants? A group based on what they want it to be? Because with all you fuckers telling me it's his group, his will, and he runs it how he wants to run it... you just contradicted yourself so I win this one. You said I contradicted myself, when I didn't do that at any point.

What I was trying to say, what you didn't understand, is that even though Krave's own intentions as a group owner weren't to initially focus on gambling as a group, he only chose to because the group members demanded it. So he didn't actually divert the group in a direction HE wanted it to go, he listened to his members, and directed it in the way WE wanted it to go.

"WE" as in all of you. "Group owner" as in Krave. You said, and I quote, "his initial focus was not on gambling" but you members of his group made him go with gambling. It's Krave's group. He has the POWER, like every other group owner, to do what they like with their own group, be it sell buy-ins, or sell the group, etc.

However, in this case, much different to what any owners would have done, he took it in the direction it's members want to go.

Yes, he can do what he likes with the group, but he took it in the direction the members wanted it to go.

So I assume all contradictions are on purpose from hereonout. I pretty much argued the fuck out of myself and am getting bored because all I'm getting in response to heat is a wannabe savage 12-year-old who tries to fire shots but really he ain't shit to begin with solely because of his infant-level insults and what seems to be a real nigga that knows what he's talking about... somewhat.

I mean, if y'all wanna keep this shit going I'll keep on, but I'm tired of winning. I'd like to know what it feels like to lose once in a while. And don't fucking go off and quote me and reply "ouh, youve lose the whole time bru" because no one has caught a possibly nonexistent self-contradiction yet so I have not lost yet and am, after all, undefeated.

GodDAMN no one can understand what my points are. Jesus Christ, man, my point was that everyone almost everyone, notice the correction there, with 1k+ rep gets an opportunity to join any group of their choosing except namely Red Lions but that's pretty much the only exclusion. I did say that rep and awards are the main deciding factor for inviting members to such groups, but that was in response to what the OP said about application info:

Y'all "don't consider it to be a deciding factor" well then why is virtually every fucker on HackForums with a thousand rep and up in a whole bunch of groups? I've reviewed some of their "contributions" and most of them had some threads that were a complete trainwreck. Not even to begin to mention how everyone refrains from discussing the original topic from the few points I intended everyone would completely understand in their entirety in my original response but instead every one of y'all bitches and complains on how I'm "wrong" in whatever fashion happens to fit whatever user's needs at the time and tells me "ouh, rep doesnt decide whethr or not u get in" bull fucking shit it doesn't. I love how everyone jumps on my ass after misinterpreting my original post in this thread and all of a sudden jumps to the conclusion that I was somehow saying that no one that has under 1k rep gets in no matter what. What the fuck do y'all read, anyways? Obviously not my posts, because if you all read those right, you'd understand where I'm coming from somewhat, at least.

Oh, NO, I'm terrified that you can use the search function like everyone else can. Soooo intimidating. Only reason I apply to groups is to bullshit the leaders. Every one of you can say "oh, he never gonna kno what its like to be in our group" well who the fuck is "our" in the first place? Second, I know what it's like to be in a usergroup, several at the same time, actually. There was so much shit going on within those groups subforums that I asked the owners to kick me and I never went back and never will go back. You idiots seriously have no idea how retarded you all sound right now trying to disprove a fact that's been proven true many times in the past few years. No one here can read, everyone judges based on what they feel their knowledge level over whatever user it may be, etc. I'm glad group fanboys worship the group. So much, in fact, that they have to try to win against proven facts with their shitty ass insults and junior high level intelligence. I admit, some of y'all are pretty worthy of the group title seeing as how you think whatever groups you may be in somehow immediately grants you authority over everyone. Dumbasses, all except for Mad76e, he's the only one that provided support for his argument, so according to modern psychology laws, all of the rest of you lost. He's pretty much the only one that can continue from here on out.

Cameron's Application

[img]http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif[/img]

Who am I?

My name is Cameron. I live in England and I study computer science at school. I have a passion for programming and English.

[img]http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif[/img]

What can I bring to the group?

I would love to join as a content writer. Being my age I have not taken any real exams yet, except an early GCSE in "Digital Application" which is essentially using graphics software at a basic level. I have a predicted grade of A* in literature and an A in language. I love to write in all forms and thus I feel my skills would be best used in this field. I am confident in my ability to write long or short detailed essays on a range of topics.

[img]http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif[/img]

How much time do you spend online?

I spend a large moderate of time online, usually I spend around 3 hours a day online when I'm on my computer, and an additional 3 hours on my phone of "checking in every 15 minutes to answer PMs and reply to comments on my threads". My summer holidays are coming around in about 3 weeks so my time spent online will spike significantly.

[img]http://i.xomf.com/zdxvh.gif[/img]

Do you have a portfolio or example of previous works? Link them here. Onsite/Offsite, any would work?

As I am applying for the content writer position I assume you would like to see examples of my work. I can either show you some of my assessments or write an example piece to your specifications.

Thank you for reading my application, if you have any questions feel free to PM me.

How much time do you devote online per day?

I always have a tab open on my 3rd Monitor all day so if something happens, I can see it on the corner of my eye. I check my PM's, Threads & etc every 15 - 30 minutes depending if I am doing something important IRL. So I'm online a lot.

Which of the above mentioned categories describes you the best?

Doxing & Private Investigating mainly because it's something that always interested me since I discovered on what it was.

Do you have a portfolio or example of previous works?

I do not have a website for anything, but I do own a YouTube Channel for my Graphic Design, I make all of my Custom Thumbnails. But for Doxing & Private Investigating and Programming? I do not have a portfolio for either since Doxing, I do not want to reveal any information, but I do have Vouches on multiple Doxing Service Threads of mine with I can link below.

But I think this is worth an application anyway,

List your skills. {List only}: Anything web security.

How much time do you devote online per day? : 6h, evening thru night IST.

Which of the above mentioned categories describes you the best? : the last one.

Do you have a portfolio or example of previous works? : I would love to share over a PM.

Notable threads if any. :

and many posts in w&fh/bh subforums.

Viktory has a point. If you consider 'doxing' to being related to a security analyst, you are either sorely mistaken or probably have no clue what being a security analyst entails.

@RumbleFrog Just for shits and giggles, can you guess what the "IR" stands for in my username?

Chill you retard, it's just an online forums. You don't need to argue about everything specially to people you haven't even met. Grow up.

Anyways recruitment is closed. Thank you for wonderful applications.
