Why not make one mega-thread for all of your work instead of five?

For all the lazy ppl:

And I agree with Gladly, probably better to make one large thread that you can keep updating.

Just make a new thread and link all of your work you do in that thread instead of making new ones when you finish a new drawing.

Whenever you want to add another drawing, just click edit and add the new link to the image in that thread.

Would it update it in the list under Anime Adventures?
