Thread: Massive Site Slowdown?

????? - June 20, 2016, 4:53 pm

Over the past 30mins I've experienced a slowdown on this site where it can take up to a minute to load pages, create threads/posts or send PMs.

Is anyone else having this problem?

I just experienced it over the past 10 minutes, seems to be fine now though.

I honestly thought it was my internet connection so I rebooted it, then came back and noticed the site was taking a longer time then it was to load pages. maybe the result of updates/ high powered ddos attack.

That's because you're Japanese. You rule the interwebz.

Yep I have. Took me like 45 seconds to post a short little response on a thread. I thought it was just me, then I saw this. When it was loading to post I opened other sites like normal, so it must be HF.

Yup, having some issues myself. Taking around 30 seconds to instant every once in a while today. I'm sure it will be fixed however.

Trying to open, read and send private messages is a slow nightmare. Although only enough to be quite annoying not impossible.
