

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Posting multiple times right after posting the thread

Plexcoo - June 21, 2016, 3:24 pm

Hello. I have an extremely long scam report consisting of more than 12,000 characters so I would like to make 2 parts of it.

After I upload the first part, will I be able to post the second part immediately in the same post, or will it merge with the initial thread and tell me I am going over 12,000 characters?

Thanks.

Renowned - June 21, 2016, 3:25 pm

It should allow you to post both of them, you could ask someone to post for you to hold the second place slot so you can post.

Frube - June 21, 2016, 3:27 pm

(Jun 21, 2016 03:25 PM)Renowned Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It should allow you to post both of them, you could ask someone to post for you to hold the second place slot so you can post.

This sounds like the best solution. I just made a post to test it and it merged it into the same post so I would presume the char limit would still be in play.

Plexcoo - June 21, 2016, 3:37 pm

I'm not sure if I want to do that because I plan on editing this post a few times later on. Are you completely sure it will just merge the characters in the second post with the first one and disallow me to post it?

Pillows - June 21, 2016, 3:41 pm

This is just me speaking theoretically:

If you plan on editing these posts then it would be a good idea to leave some buffer room for more characters. (E.G give a buffer of about 500-1000 posts)

If someone deletes their post in between then your content will just be pushed up that's all. No merging.

Plexcoo - June 21, 2016, 3:54 pm

(Jun 21, 2016 03:41 PM)Pillows Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If someone deletes their post in between then your content will just be pushed up that's all. No merging.

Anybody think they could do this for me? If so PM me.