

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: The UK Leaves the EU?!

ANT. - June 24, 2016, 4:21 am

So yeah, for those interested in anything political, you would of noticed that after the EU referendum last night the United Kingdom has voted to leave the European Union.

I personally have no relation to politics, although i'm from the UK and have several businesses here, so i was up till 5 am lastnight watching those votes count as these effects trades and stocks massively.

overall i wanted us to remain, for many reasons, but yeah, im curious to hear your thoughts on this, weather or not your from the UK/EU .

:)

Targaryen - June 24, 2016, 4:23 am

Nothing will change at all for quite some time as it will take years to process.

Fistsworn - June 24, 2016, 4:26 am

There are like 20 Threads all about this lol...

But yeah the user above is right, however your pound will loose buying power in the long run, soccer players in the UK that aren't english are requesting/planning to request payments in Dollars or Euros cause that's what their economists say...

So yeah...

Unthinkable - June 24, 2016, 4:48 am

why is it bad UK left the EU?

luckyc2000 - June 24, 2016, 4:50 am

Interesting that i have currency in the uk , i was lucky enough to transfer it to aud last week. Worth nothing now haha

N1nj4Styl3 - June 24, 2016, 5:16 am

Honest opinion? You will rise again in less than 2 years. You guys in the UK are smart / you know to run a country which is independent. You will do good and your currency will rise more than euro.

ANT. - June 24, 2016, 5:32 am

(Jun 24, 2016 05:16 AM)N1nj4Styl3 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honest opinion? You will rise again in less than 2 years. You guys in the UK are smart / you know to run a country which is independent. You will do good and your currency will rise more than euro.

thanks man :) . yeah i believe that too, tho i dont know why after 40 or so years being apart of the EU, creating trades and partnerships with millions of European and worldwide business's they would jeopardise it.. oh well.. time to move forward i guess

ANT. - June 24, 2016, 5:43 am

(Jun 24, 2016 05:41 AM)Gracious Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I intend to move to the UK soon, This might as well be good opportunity for settlement for other migrants.

yeah, david said something along those lines during the votes, how he 'tried' to get a new immigration policy or something, but like always, turns out bullshit lol