Thread: Harrasment?

Uzi London ++ - June 24, 2016, 10:38 am

Would spamming my threads with false accusations or assumptions multiple time's be classified as harassment? I mean i have no problem with you stating how you feel once on one of my thread's but going on and on. I cant think of anything else thats more harassing :(

Stomedy - June 24, 2016, 10:39 am

Yeah for some reason it says no harassment but this whole forum is filled with harassment and the admins don't care.

Magician. - June 24, 2016, 10:41 am

Just report it to a staff maybe that can help.

Lor?d - June 24, 2016, 10:42 am

Pretty sure OP's account is compromised.

Just look at his TS

Talu - June 24, 2016, 10:46 am

Well, you could try your luck and report.... but do so at your own risk.

Just so everyone knows, the OP's thread here is regarding people saying that his account may be compromised. His trust scan looks like absolute shit, and he's annoyed that people are talking about it. While it's 100% possible that he changed his email / reset his password / changed username all at once...it's far more likely that his account was stolen, especially because 2FA was added at the same time. DWC, OP's account may in fact be compromised and he may be attempting to prevent people from warning others about that possibility.

Also, as far as I know - Harassment usually has to be coming from a single member or group for it to be considered ongoing harassment. This is similar to how you can't be arrested for bullying or harassment just because you tell someone you don't like them - once. But if you say it over and over again and don't leave them alone, you'll be in trouble. As far as I can tell, it appears that MULTIPLE users are saying "check trust scan" in some of OP's threads, so it's not really harassment. I think it's important that users can make other users aware of potential problems and I would be very pissed if admins told us we're no longer allowed to point out the fact that a user's trust scan is completely shady.

Michael - June 24, 2016, 10:58 am

If you think those posts could be seen as harassments towards you, simply report these posts and staff will take the sufficient action.

Flame, Threat, Harassment

Any post or thread which contains any defamatory, hateful, racist, and other threatening remarks towards a user, multiple users, threads or sections belong to this report option. Such posts may inflict multiple warnings as they also fall under poor-quality posting.

dude, harassment is allowed on this forum. This isn't a heavily moderated and oppressive forum. Adding the user to your ignore list will do you a favor ?

Where I am really curious here.

OP, did you actually steal the account, or did you buy it? If so how much did your dumb ass pay to get called out so fast?

Well OP, I am a Multi, I have 50 accounts on here. Can you prove it? Check my trust scan Its obvious isnt it? Who honestly is THAT static? 1 IP all this time?

C'mon bro, your sitting here getting mad at me calling you a multi when I could very well be one too.

See heres the fucking difference.
I have ONE single account, not 50. I can claim and say whatever the fuck I want to as well. So YOU saying "No man, Im legit" after your trust scan went all sorts of fucking screwy... Well, odd are more against you than me. ?

Fess up punk, I called your ass out.

Black Shadow - June 25, 2016, 2:52 am

Yeah, but the only thing staff cover within that category is threats pretty much. Flaming maybe a little less, but general harassment, generally not.
