Decent server, I started up a fac called CBHF ;). The lag is real though

NiceMemes - June 26, 2016, 10:23 am

1.10 is the grossest update to come out as of yet

Rask0 - June 26, 2016, 11:40 am

Actually good server, going to be more active on this (:

Thanks guys! We disabled most of the 1.10 combat mechanics, so it isn't as bad as most servers. :P

NOTE: I haven't played Minecraft in years so I'm a bit behind.

I just got on, and your spawn looks pretty simple compared to the higher scaled ones, so I kinda like that.

I checked the warps, and I'm not sure if /warp staff is needed for normal members, since all you go to is a small room with rules for the staff. I warped to see the donations and it seems it gives them an unfair advantage. You can use /fly and /repair all? Doesn't seem like a good perk, just makes it sound like you want money and you give them outrageous advantages. Along with that you get silk touch on spawners (not sure if normals can do that), OP apples, and McMMO levels? Sounds like pay to win.

This is just my opinion on your donations.

This is just my opinion on your donations. Thanks for the criticism! We will look into possible changes in the near future. I will be honest in saying that money is indeed a goal in mind to keep the server up, as we would rather not keep it up out of our own pocket, but I also agree that the donations are op. We are just going off examples set by current faction servers, most in which are unfortunately op as well. I do see how this can ruin a users playing experience. I will talk to my partner and see if we can change this. /fly really isn't very helpful other than scouting sky bases, but /repair all can be abit OP. The McMMO levels are high for donators as well, but voting has the potential to give quite abit of McMMO as well, which will hopefully balance out the donators McMMO for active users who vote daily on both of our websites, plus future sites that we will add. We do need some sort of incentive for donations, but any suggestions are more than welcome! :D
