It's the summer, and I know most of you just sit at home since you don't have school, so you're probably pretty lonely. You may be playing video games, browsing forums, or sitting around Netflix. You're probably bored since you don't have many friends.

Enter me, a college educated, 24 year old male with knowledge in trading, cybersecurity, programming, CPA, cryptocurrencies, linux, and finance. You can be my friend. Just apply using the following form. If you are picked I will share my knowledge with you in any topic you desire, in exchange for some of your knowledge in a different or similar field.

Lmao, this niqqa.

It's a good thing you're doing for the community though, would probably have done it if I had access to my computer over the summer. Props to you.

Me too.

I've made a lot of money online, so if anyone here isn't just interested in knowledge I can show you the ropes on that too.

Language: English and Russian

Skills (list skill level for each): Gaming, business, marketing. He is very good at Video Editing, gaming as well, and creativity.

Relevant projects: AIOfish, Guthix, lots of other sites as well. He has lots of trailers and promos created.

Age: 20

What you're interested in learning (be specific): I am applying this for my friend, I want you to help him find his passion or learn how to make money online, he is the only one left who doesn't know how to make money, nor doesn't try. If he is taught he will learn, he doesn't want to learn from me and my other friends. So yes teach him the skills of making money or at least help him find a passion and lead him in the right direction. If he is taught I will share my knowledge with you, I just really want him to learn something, and at least understand what the scene is about, explain cryptocurrencies, explain anonymity, and all of these amazing things.

Has mic (yes/no): we both have mics
