Thread: [\[OFFICIAL\] Synergy \ Looking for Gaming Leaders](#)

Cryptic™ - June 25, 2016, 9:21 pm

Looking for leaders of popular games on various platforms.

For example, if you are a PS4 gamer and play COD a lot, you may be able to lead your own PS4 COD division, where you will be able to recruit a handful of PS4 COD gamers and make your own team and play together...etc.

Your job will be to run your division, manage your members, play games together with people in your division, have game nights, coordinate events.

Damn that's an interesting position, It's a way to actually make group leaders useful.

This group is beginning to interest me tbh, maybe it will be more than just another gaming group.

What leadership experience do you have?:

I have lead a few teams back when BO1 had a huge competitive scene. I also have helped administrate a few local events around my area. I've always had a knack for bringing things and people together. What kind of group would this be if everyone weren't accustomed to each other? That's a goal of mine that I wish to make a reality with this group. I want everyone to be well-acquainted with each other. What kind of group would it be if they weren't?

Why should we accept you?:

I'm extremely chill and mature when it comes to situations that demand the most of me when it comes to my character. I'm also extremely competitive and that has always been an edge of mine when playing with others; Especially friends. I feel that my acceptance would mean my full on support with the competitive scene on this console. That being said, tournaments being held on behalf of the group would be mandatory. And that is something I can and will bring to the table. Along with a good and chill atmosphere.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week:
I game regularly after sports and coming from the gym. If I'm not gaming it's because of one of those two. However, my activity will never be an issue. I would say I game roughly 3-5 hours a day on school days and pretty much anytime on weekends or vacation days. I am almost always free to hang with friends and put in work.

Picture of your gaming Area: Setup (Click to View) I scrapped my old setup so I could build something more cleaner and efficient. A pic on my progress will be updated.

I hope to be considered. Thank you.

It doesn't look that spectacular in my opinion, and I'm sure I'm not the only one with that opinion. Cryptic told me he's waiting to see if any designers step forward and find a better, more original looking one to take the place of that userbar.

Sent some of you a PM with additional questions.

Compiling a list of who plays what games and stuff, so far the most popular games accross all consoles were LoL / Call of Duty series / CS:GO.

Seen some very good applications so far posted here and via PM.

Also fear not, if you do not get selected as a leader you will most likely be added as a member of the team.

Well, CS:GO isn't for console. So that's not possible.

What leadership experience do you have: I have been in several groups, including Brotherhood; I currently lead and run the Xbox News section in the Xbox Subforum. I also run a blog with similar content along with a group of other HF members.

Why should we accept you?: Because I am really into gaming; I keep up with everything going on in gaming so I can inform people around here about it. I love being in a community and I love you Cryptic. You broke my heart when you announced BH was going away :(

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week:

Everyday; I can put in like 5 hours a day into gaming alone, and a whole lot more into just being a part of the community. Can put way more hours in on weekends and stuff; just work on weekdays though - only like two shifts though.

Why should we accept you?: I'm a team player that doesn't RQ or whatnot, I like gaming communities since it's a chance to meet more people.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week: Since I started working i can't go full no-life like I used to, but I can do 6+ hours a day for sure.

What leadership experience do you have: I've ran a GTA V group on 360 for J3T Princesses. Leader gave up, and it ended up getting passed to me had about 400 or so group members. Our goal was to fly around, dogfight, scrape people, make people mad, etc. I've never had an official group for Halo Reach, but I would love too. It would benefit me and whomever else would want to be on my team.

Why should we accept you?: I'm a pretty straight forward leader on the xbox platform, I can bring new experiences, teach people the ways of GTA on 360, inform of new glitches, wallbreaches, etc. and teach people how to fly a jet, dogfight, and fly backwards.

Most-Played Game(s): As of right now I tend to alternate between games, but here's a list anyways of some of my most played.WoW

GTA V

CS:GO

Rocket League

Diablo 3

Primary Genre: I love the competitive aspect in games, but I also love the feel for MMO games. So if I had to pick a primary genre it would have to be MMO games as they have great leadership potential and I absolutely love playing them.

What leadership experience do you have: A few years ago I was the organizer and in-game leader for my CS:GO team which composed of quite a few friends of mine. To add to that, I was the co-owner of a few popular Garry's Mod servers which had many events and such for the community, it was my job to organize these events and get people together to do them. Both of these heavily influenced my love for being a leader and I'm sure there are many more experiences to come in the future.

Why should we accept you?: Along with my leadership skills, I feel as if I have the drive and dedication to be a leader of a sector within Synergy. An MMO sector for the group would be a great experience not only for myself, but for others who wish to partake in it. I'm willing to host many activities within this sector and hopefully help others meet new people which could hopefully develop friendships.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week: I'd say a good two to three hours a day would be a reasonable amount of time to dedicate to the group.

Username: IncarnatiOn

Age: 20

Gaming Platforms: PC

Games: League of Legends, Overwatch, CS:GO, Hearthstone, Insurgency, GTA V, Battlefield (3, 4, and Hardline)

Primary Genre: MOBAs & Shooters.

What leadership experience do you have: I have lead some small projects/businesses in my time and most of them were profitable, just not to a crazy extent. I was also the leader/shotcaller for my League of Legends team so managing others and scheduling timezones is something I'm very familiar with.

Why should we accept you?: I've been following Synergy since Cryptic announced it, and ever since I heard there would be a gaming group that's actually for gaming I just had to be a part of it, and seeing as I know I can be mature and I have critical experience when it comes to organizing gamers/players I think that gives me an undeniable edge.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week: Well it's summer and I'm spending all my day either playing or browsing HF, so around 15 hours a day.

About me: I love eSports, I've participated in medium sized competitive events before and I'm really in love with the competitive scene in some games like Hearthstone and -previously- League of Legends. I also believe that I will be an active member of Synergy. Management wise I have worked previously on customer support, I've worked as an article writer/editor on small gaming news blogs, I was the shotcaller for my old team during the period of Season 3 and we saw notable success with it. Overall I consider myself mature on a work environment and I think I am able to help out in the League of Legends, Overwatch, and Hearthstone sections of Synergy as I have invested many thousands of hours in League of Legends & Hearthstone, and I have been keeping up with Overwatch since the beta.

Will you be dedicated to the group?: It's no secret that I am not that big on HF, I really want to make a name for myself and I am positive that Synergy is the answer, I vow to dedicate myself solely to the group.

Do you have anything note-able gaming related?: My team was ranked #2 in all of Europe for a few weeks in Season 5 (League of Legends): Spoiler (Click to View)

Primary Genre: Shooters

What leadership experience do you have: I've ran successful Battlefield 3 servers which were mainly private to develop conquest strategies. I used to lead an Arma 3 group for tactical missions, ran the server as well, I would strategize and plan out attacks for my members to initiate against other players and AI.

Why should we accept you?: I'm a dedicated gamer, I play and grind to be the best at what I'm good at. I usually stick to my gaming genre just because I enjoy it the most and find that it can be entertaining no matter the situation.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week: I'm a dedicated day gamer, I usually work at night but on occasions I do play at night, usually really late. I can put around 6-8hrs of gaming in per day.

Are you going to consider the previous applications?

What I would like to lead:

I am interested in leading a league of legends "team"/division

Username:

Dead Pool

Country of Residence:

Canada

Gaming Platforms:

PC mostly but have an xbox one as well

Most-Played Game(s):

League of Legends

Overwatch

Rocket League

and TONS more

Primary Genre:

MOBA, only because of league

What leadership experience do you have:

Quite a bit, I have owned quite a few ecommerce websites in the past and managed staff. IRL I am also a manager in a datacenter.

Why should we accept you?:

When I am not working, I am playing games. I love gaming and is one of my passions.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week:

Each day I play for about 5-12 hours depending on the day, if I am working etc.

There is also another TV behind that desk for my xbox one.

Username: Derek Shepherd

Country of Residence: United States

Gaming Platforms: PC exclusively.

Most-Played Game(s): Counter Strike: Global Offensive

Primary Genre: FPS.

What leadership experience do you have: I lead every group project at school and I used to be a leader of a semi-professional CS:GO team.

Why should we accept you?: You should accept me because I'll actually put work into managing events and won't slack off like I see things going with other members.

How often do you game and how many hours would you be able to put in each day/week: I play CS:GO about 5-10 hours a day and I play everyday. I would be able to dedicate 2-3 hours planning and organizing events for everyone and then the rest of my time to actually executing these plans.

Good luck to those who apply.

Thornzzz - August 17, 2016, 3:07 am

I've lead a gaming sector in The Brotherhood twice, hmu if you seriously want me to do something. I'm bored and want a project.

illuminati? - August 17, 2016, 3:18 pm

We're no longer looking for gaming leaders.

Thanks to all that applied.
