Secondly

This should be easy. If future trunks survived vs black goku at just ss2 then goku should be able to kill black easy

And thirdly this is funny as hell

from the preview of 50 goku got knocked down but never showed him using ssj3 or blue. so I think black is going to get his ass handed to him unless he has some kinda trick which he will. MY GUESS = "the other guy with that ear ring will come and fuse with black goku then goku does fusion with vegeta while ssb and gogeta ssb his ass back"

I have to say that this episode was pretty nostalgic.

My theory is that Goku will overpower Black Goku by going Super Saiyan 2 or maybe beyond in the next episode. The episode after that we should be seeing some kind of power-up from Black Goku to make him overpower Goku. My guess is that he will either go Super Saiyan himself or he will end up revealing his God based transformation which most people are assuming is Super Saiyan White.

All I know for sure though right now is that Black Goku has ties with the green Supreme Kai looking dude and he is actually Spoiler (Click to View)the God King Zamasu.

Theory is that this Black Goku is from a timeline where Goku never got raised on Earth. Instead he was taken mysteriously by Zamasu in an attempt to distort the timeline. Now this is a personal theory of mine but my guess is that this Zamasu character will be apart of the next upcoming tournament under the Omni King. Maybe Zamasu himself is from the future where Goku wins the tournament and ends up catching wind of Goku's true potential. He then goes back through time using this Time Ring that Black Goku used to find baby Goku and raise him to be some kind of servant or even God of Destruction.

I read something a week or two ago about this saga and that the gods get involved and maybe more. Seems like it now since Black Goku goes into the past. He also has the ring of time so maybe he's not even from future Trunks' timeline. Really looking forward to next few episodes though.
