Thread: Special/Invisible character

Pew ? - June 27, 2016, 12:40 pm

TL;dr I wanna put a special character in my name but can't seem to get it working. Can anyone help me out?

I just really want it to say Pew in normal letters which is why I'm wanting to use an invisible character.

Invisible, whatever makes it so I can use "Pew" without any visible changes.

Go to the start menu. Type in "Character map" in the search. Open the program. Choose Mongolian Baiti as the font. Scroll all the way down until you see this:

Pew + ALT 0157 = Pew?

That's the one I use most of the time.

Pew ? - June 27, 2016, 12:59 pm

Neither of those suggestions worked :(

What do you mean?

baka~ - June 27, 2016, 1:25 pm

I'd say be careful with special letters as they can screw up when logging in, or I think.

I remember omni warning users about something like this anyway use the character map if youre on windows.

You can login with your email now so that fixes that problem.

I made a thread in the ub3r support section about this issue. I made sure email logins were still enabled so that I wouldn't have this issue. However it seems all the usernames I want are taken even with a character so rip.

Oh I wasnt aware of that tbh.

Well then OP wont have to think about that,

OP, try this site it may have something you can use
