I can only hope this will be similar to Shirobako from the description, but I don't know anything about it and it will probably be much more focused on comedy and other shit based on the preview

AceVoid - June 29, 2016, 12:28 pm

Looks cute AF and the animation looks really appealing to the eye, but I don't really see anything (plot wise) that attracts me too much. Might watch it if I have nothing better to watch, not a real big fan of slice of life though.

Yeah never expect too much plot wise with a slice of life, for the most part (bar a few exceptions) they don't have the thickest plot. Looking forward to the art and comedy though, should be a fun watch regardless.

First episode is out!

Super cute character designs and actually pretty fun to watch. Everyone is a girl though, which has its benefits but holy cow there's 0 boys at this game company.

Mmmmm. Any fanservice? And based on the first episode how's the plot?

Tiny bit of fanservice so far but its mainly just been super cute. Plot isn't thick, more easy viewing, but compared to most slice-of-life there is one. Also not set in a school which makes a change.

Just look how cute she is

It looks like Shirobako but I have yet to see a male character in this anime xD

The theme kind of reminds me of a short where this girl is a VA the works in an eroge game studio
<- went completely off tangent xD

Yeah I noticed the lack of dudes... in a gaming studio? Still not complaining. Cute girls > sweaty dudes

Happeh - July 13, 2016, 11:23 am

Episode 2 was just as cute. I fucking love the character designs in this anime

Wulfa989 - July 13, 2016, 5:59 pm

Time to add another anime to my watchlist. I've been reading the manga for a couple months now and it's an interesting storyline and the art is cute. Looking at the trailer the anime artwork looks ccute as well.

?????? - July 14, 2016, 2:00 am

I love this anime so much, its sooo cute. Read whats out of the manga yesterday so more cute girls :D

Happeh - July 26, 2016, 2:41 pm

I'm upset people aren't watching this.

DerMensch24 - July 26, 2016, 2:43 pm

Added it to my MAL to watch later, just finished D-Frag recently so this seems kinda similar, but will probs wait for all the eps to come out so I can watch it in one binge.

Can't tell you whether they're that similar as I haven't watched D-Frag yet, but reading the MAL they aren't. New Game! follows a freshly graduated High Schooler working at a games company full of women, basically it. No romance (so far) and definitely not a school setting.

Best girl of the season award tho

Professor PANTSU - July 26, 2016, 6:48 pm

New game is very cute and that gothic lolita girl is my favorite.

Reminds me of Shirobako but not as accurate and good. (which makes sense because animators make anime and not games)

Is it even possible to spoil a slice of life anime?

I guess not but ya know, there is a little plot going on and I don't want to know the whole episode and all the funny bits before I've seen the next episode of ya catch my drift?

OP, been a while since you opened the thread. So what's the verdict? Any good?

4 episodes down and its my favourite anime of the season. Not plot thick and its a slice of life (which is the genre I love) but its character designs and just the character's personalities are top notch. Animation quality is great and there is an underlying plot which I'm enjoying.

It's probably not everyone's cup of tea but I love it.

Happeh - August 8, 2016, 6:06 pm

Glad someone is watching it as it seems all of AA is sleeping on this anime. So enjoyable.

Had fun this episode, couldn't stop smiling. Nice little break from the office scenes and some little character development. All cute.

While I think this is the ideal setting for this many cute grils, I'm just not big into slice of life without a twist.

That because most people here now-a-days have shit taste.

It's really nice to see a cute slice of life that takes place outside of high school.

lol also one of my internet friends had like 90 screenshots of this show when there was only two episodes out. Maybe I'll save and upload some of the cute webms next time they get posted for this thread.
