Thread: FBI website

JessiCantTouchthis - June 29, 2016, 2:13 pm

Resolved someones website on this forum, as they asked me to test their protections, site seems to be meant for malicious purposes, I resolved past cloudflare, and got this...

ISP: FBI Criminal Justice Information Systems

Organization: FBI Criminal Justice Information Systems

Is this something people can fake, or real?

V For Vendetta - June 29, 2016, 2:16 pm

Who owns that website? I'd like to know for reasons.

Not sure a real FBI operator would use something so blatantly obvious. Probably wanted to scare whoever found it and detour them from going further. Or it could be FBI, because, well, this is HF.

I wouldnt think it possible to be able to do this unless your fbi though btw I never did hit his site, happy about that now though

L?YLE - June 29, 2016, 11:47 pm

How about posting the original website and the owner?

Mr. Corleone - June 29, 2016, 11:58 pm

Can you proof this please? Doubt many people will believe this without proof.

Does seem interesting tho, although I don't think that the FBI would go undercover by putting websites on their own shit.

Owner: egregious

Site: knockedoffline.com

LordCoder - July 1, 2016, 4:01 am

Use this: <http://iphostinfo.com/cloudflare/>

True.

A Booter honeypot interesting looks like r4gebooter all over again if this is legit, feds doing a mitm attack and viewing all traffic that comes in. Could also be a troll because you can point subdomains/domains to any IP you want even a federally owned one, egregious probably did it to deter or scare people. If you look at the site only one subdomain points to the IP the rest are protected properly by cloudflare.

good that you stay away. that could be a jail bait. ?

Mr. John Smith - August 8, 2016, 7:31 am

The real FBI domain is heavily protected by Cloudflare and i think was hosted by Level 3 Communications at one point probably changed by now though so gonna say this is most likely fake... just doesn't look right..?

'Suicide - August 8, 2016, 7:36 am

Lol, Eg is not FBI just so you can keep calm. I know him personally. Just don't hit his website.

Confound - August 8, 2016, 7:41 am

This is comical. Egregious likes scare tactics. Glad to see some people were gullible enough to believe that.

This.

Haven't been on HF for long, but I'm sure they have better things to do.
