Thread: [\[\$10\] >TIPLOGGER< | PASSWORD RECV | MULTI-OS KEYLOGGER | WORKS ON WINDOWS/MAC/LINUX |](#)

tipLogger is a simple yet versatile application that allows you, the awesome person, to remotely receive logged keystrokes from a target computer.

Also check out tipHunter, a smart, multi-platform tool to hunt through directories for target files... and to steal those.

===Details

I am selling this tool for $10/build. Each build is platform-unspecific, meaning it will run on pretty much anything. Keylogs are delivered by FTP. Each build corresponds to a single set of FTP login details on a specific FTP server. Every hour, the log is updated to the server with a timestamp so you can select the latest log every time but also keep the old logs.

===FAQ

Spoiler (Click to View)Is this FUD? 1/35 as of now for the obfuscation technique.

Can I resell builds? Yes, but all support matters are yours only then. Don't direct your customers to me for support.

Can I have a vouch copy? Are you an Ub3r? Are you an activist in the Keyloggers or RATs section? If you answered yes twice, yes - you may have a vouch copy. PM me.

Got questions? Ask below, I'll answer them for you so that everyone else also gets the answer.

Waiting for some vouches to get dropped. Glws. Also can you change the amount of time it takes for the logs to update?

I sent out some offers of vouch copies to members I know. I can change the update time for you on a case-by-case basis. Just let me know when you buy. :)

It's in Java, so Macs can run it. They just double-click it like any other file.
